

Private Firms Get Chance to Sell Utilities, Barkley States

Roosevelt to Withhold Funds Until Offer Has Been Made

FIGHTS RESTRICTION Companies Must Receive 'Reasonable Price' For Holdings

Washington—(AP)—Majority Leader Barkley told the senate today President Roosevelt does not want to use government funds for building public utility plants competing with privately-owned systems until private utilities have been given an opportunity to sell their holdings at a "reasonable price."

Barkley's statement came during senate debate on a proposal to forbid the use of PWA funds for constructing plants which would compete with privately-owned systems. The restriction was recommended by the senate appropriations committee as an amendment to the administration's three-billion-dollar lending-spending measure.

If the restriction on PWA allotments is eliminated, Barkley asserted he was "authorized to say" that the president would not allocate funds for building public systems unless municipalities have "in good faith made an offer to purchase the existing privately owned and operated plant."

Discussed at Confab

Barkley said the power question was discussed at a recent conference between the president, himself, Speaker Bankhead and House Majority Leader Rayburn.

"The president," he said, "took the position that federal money ought not to be allocated for the construction of public utilities where there is an existing private utility whose rates are regulated by a public authority until and unless the municipality or other political subdivision made in good faith an offer to purchase at a fair price the existing privately owned and operated plant."

Hayden Leads Fight

The action came on a standing vote after Senator Hayden (D-Ariz.) had led a floor fight to increase the $865,000,000 total which the committee approved.

During consideration of the appropriation, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) opened a drive to earmark funds in the $3,247,000,000 lending-spending bill for specific purposes.

He asked the senate to assign $100,000,000 of the proposed $865,000,000 PWA appropriation to reclamation and irrigation projects.

Several other anti-administration senators also planned to submit earmarking proposals.

Earlier Secretary Morgenthau said congress should give President Roosevelt virtually unlimited authority to determine how funds should be spent in the new relief-public works program.

Morgenthau Plea

"In the present situation where we do not expect congress to meet again until next January and do not know whether the economic situation will get better or worse," the treasury chief said, "the wise thing would be to give the president the right, as he had in other bills, to transfer funds from one title to another in order to take care of the situation."

It was disclosed, meanwhile, that the president and his advisers were considering spending several hundred million dollars of relief funds

A new non-skid metal is on the market. It stands terrific wear and tear and does not get slippery under any conditions, and so it is hoped the U. S. Mint will turn that metal into coins. The stuff they use now, for anything from a nickel to a fifty-cent piece, seems to slip out of your pocket of its own accord, upward, like the cork of an oil bottle. Of course, the money does come back many times over if it is slipped into a classified wanted in the Post-Crescent. This, no slip, one sold a glider.

1,500 Republicans To Attend Confab

Fight Over Seating of Delegates Expected at Fond du Lac

Fond du Lac—(AP)—Approximately 1,500 Wisconsin Republicans are expected tomorrow for the state convention of the party's voluntary groups, but a fight over seating of delegates is in the offing.

The fight is expected to develop over whether Republicans allied with the state statutory group but not with the voluntary group should be seated.

At Milwaukee, William A. Hyde, attorney who is chairman of that county's voluntary group, declared: "We will object to seating anyone who has not been properly chosen by his respective club unit as a delegate and who does not bear a card entitling him to a seat."

Howard Greene of Genesee Depot, a former Republican nominee for governor, and vice chairman of the state voluntary committee, has expressed the hope all delegates be accorded recognition, "no matter what party faction they represent. The central aim of all Republicans is to gain harmony among all groups within Republican ranks," he said.

Observers predicted a coalition of Republicans and Democrats against the LaFollette Progressives would become a chief matter of debate at the convention.

State Experts Attack Duncan Defense Plea

Prosecution Tries to Prove Drunkenness, Not Disease, Caused Tragedy

ALIENIST ON STAND

Facts in Accident Not Characteristic of Ailment, Witness Says

BULLETIN

Milwaukee—(AP)—Both the state and defense rested this afternoon in the first degree manslaughter case of Thomas M. Duncan, executive secretary to Governor Philip LaFollette.

Milwaukee—(AP)—The state called its own medical experts today to attack Thomas M. Duncan's "loss of memory" defense to a manslaughter charge based on the Henry F. Schuette hit-and-run killing.

The executive secretary to Governor LaFollette, had testified in his municipal court trial, he had no recollection of the accident March 9.

Defense counsel introduced expert testimony intended to show his claimed blankness of mind was the result of a spasm of blood vessels supplying the brain. This, it is contended, impaired temporarily the normal functions of his brain.

Against this claim the prosecution offered testimony Duncan was drunk.

Dr. H. Douglas Singer, Illinois state alienist who testified for the prosecution in the famous Leopold trial in Chicago, was asked today to give his opinion on the defense contention Duncan's condition was due to angio spasm associated with cerebral arteriosclerosis.

Not Established Fact

He said angio spasm as associated with cerebral arteriosclerosis is "a theory and not a well-established fact."

Assistant District Attorney Charles Kersten reviewed Duncan's alleged drive down Wisconsin avenue, the Schuette accident, and the defendant's claim of memory loss. Kersten then posed this question: "Will you state whether these facts are characteristic of angio spasm associated with cerebral arteriosclerosis?"

"They are not consistent or characteristic," Dr. Singer answered.

"Why?"

"These spasms do not involve loss of memory."

He added that if he could conceive of a situation wherein a spasm of the blood vessels would cause loss of memory he believed it would be accompanied by unconsciousness.

Dr. Singer said spasms could effect a person's speech, but declared the disturbance in no way resembled the speech difficulty sometimes experienced in drunkenness.

Dr. R. A. Jefferson and Dr. Andrew I. Rosenberg, Milwaukee specialists in nervous and mental diseases, also were asked whether the facts of the drive and Duncan's claim of loss of memory were characteristic of angio spasm as associated with hardening of arteries in the brain.

"No, they are not," Dr. Jefferson answered.

"They are not," said Dr. Rosenberg.

Dr. Singer as well as Drs. Jefferson and Rosenberg said they believed a spasm which could cause prolonged loss of memory would

Mayor and Wife Slain in Montana

Sheriff Blames Half-Brother of Victim for Double Shooting

Three Forks, Mont.—(AP)—The home where Mayor August Kunze, 35, and his 38-year-old wife were shot down will be the scene of an inquest tonight into what Sheriff Lovitt I. Westlake said was a long-planned double slaying by the mayor's half-brother.

Westlake said John Kunze, who was arrested after a four-gas barrage drove him from his home, told him he had first "planned to kill them May 29" but missed an opportunity.

Late yesterday he said Kunze related, he saw them standing in their front yard with Ed Groves, their ranch foreman.

"I got a pair of field glasses," the sheriff quoted Kunze, "and looked through the window of my house to make sure it was August and Louise. I wanted to get them both at once, not one at a time."

Groves told the sheriff Kunze came across the street, shot the mayor's wife and then shot his half-brother in the back as he turned and ran.

Westlake said Kunze's only comment was: "They put me in the well." He did not elaborate, Westlake said.

Kunze was held in Gallatin county jail. County Attorney H. B. Landoe prepared first degree murder charges.

Charges 'Persecution' Of Automobile Concerns

Washington—(AP)—Representative Hoffman (R-Mich.) told the house yesterday the administration was "persecuting" automobile companies, which led the way back to recovery during the dark days of the depression.

"It has now turned loose on General Motors, Chrysler and Ford, the department of justice, persecuting them because they made an attempt to relieve those who were forced to ask for credit when purchasing automobiles from the Shylock-like activities of gouging finance companies," Hoffman asserted.

Hoffman charged that when the industry "was lifting the whole nation out of the depths of the depression" John L. Lewis, CIO chairman, "by force of arms throttled the motor industry."

Investigate Death of Soldier at Camp McCoy

Spartan, Wis.—(AP)—Army and sheriff's officials today sought information which may determine in what manner Private Herman Fox, St. Louis, met his death last night or early this morning.

The body of the soldier was found in his automobile within the boundaries of Camp McCoy this morning by other army men. A coroner's jury later determined Fox died of a basal skull fracture.

Sheriff Hans Hiegel said there were no signs of a struggle nor was the auto damaged. He learned Fox had gone to LaCrosse last night with other soldiers. This afternoon he planned to question those who made the trip.

Divers and Small Boats Join in Search for Clue to Boy's Fate

SECRECY PREVAILS

Hundreds of Men Comb Sections Assigned to Them in Florida

Princeton, Fla.—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, took charge of the James Bailey Cash, Jr., kidnaping case today while small boats and divers augmented a huge posse combing this area in the rain for a trace of the 5-year-old victim.

Arriving at Miami from Washington, Hoover hastened immediately to the F. B. I. office in a downtown skyscraper where agents have been questioning several suspects for 24 hours. He refused, like his subordinates, to discuss the case and indicated he expected to be here several days.

Hundreds of men in khaki veterans' uniforms and hunting togs, many with pistols at their belts, assembled at dawn and were taken out in farm trucks to the sectors assigned for the second day of the search.

Parents in Seclusion

The sensitive Cash and his wife remained secluded in their frame apartment building, although the father came to the door to receive three telegrams.

It was learned that the anguished mother, who had been prostrate with grief, finally was sleeping.

The passes, covering an area of 80 square miles, turned in a number of articles that might or might not be clues. Among them were two striped convict's outfits complete with hat, jacket and trousers found in a field. The suits and various other findings were sent to Miami for investigation.

The F. B. I. announced it would pay double the face value of the banknotes to finders of the first 100 bills of the $10,000 ransom. Serial numbers of the 1,500 bills were broadcast yesterday.

Rewards Offered

Finders must deliver the bills to the Miami bureau without reporting

Kills Two Children And Wounds His Wife

Chicago—(AP)—Charles Joksus, 52, released from the state hospital at Kankakee, Ill., yesterday, drank some whisky before retiring and Policeman John Hanrahan said, rose early today and bludgeoned his wife and two children with a claw hammer.

Mrs. Anna Joksus, 29, suffered a possible skull fracture, police said, the blows crushed the skulls of Leonard, 5, and Eleanor, 18 months, killing both instantly.

"I was awakened by something hitting me, a sort of shock," the mother told Hanrahan. "I looked up and saw my husband standing over me with the hammer in his hand. I managed to get away from him and ran out to get the police. I didn't think he'd hit the children. I wouldn't have gone if I'd have known that."

Mrs. Joksus told police her husband had been confined to the hospital seven months. Police took Joksus to Psychopathic hospital.

Commissioner Payne Asks Probe of Radio Industry

Washington—(AP)—Commissioner George Payne of the communications commission, charging that the commission has been "susceptible to outside pressure," asked the house rules committee today to authorize a congressional investigation of the radio industry.

Some of the lawyers who practice before the commission, Payne said, "have become arrogant and are in the habit of commanding, rather than of asking or pleading."

"Their influence and pressure are altogether too great," Payne spoke of "active lobbyists" at the commission headquarters but declined to identify them. He agreed, however, to return to a closed meeting of the committee Tuesday to give details of his charges.

Chairman McNinch had said earlier that the commission hoped to start early next month "a thorough, business-like" investigation of the radio industry, including charges of monopoly.

Roosevelt Advises Annapolis Grads To Study Problems of United States

Annapolis, Md.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, after causing waves of laughter to ripple through ranks of midshipmen, advised 435 members of the 1938 naval academy graduating class to know their country and its problems.

The president, speaking from the rostrum in Dahlgren hall, the academy armory, told the white-uniformed, brass-buttoned young officers that regardless of how they planned to spend their lives they should be "well rounded in your knowledge."

The president suggested this knowledge would come "by experiences of your daily life" and by "the opportunity constantly to widen your knowledge by your own individual efforts."

He brought laughter by telling how he went to sleep at another naval academy graduation when he was assistant secretary of the navy. After the president had told the graduates that "your commander-in-chief is proud of you," he was presented with a quadrant—a nautical instrument—once owned by Commodore John Paul Jones, hero of the Revolutionary war.

The presentation was made by L. D. MacLaren, mayor of St. John New Brunswick, who said the quadrant was a proud possession of his father.

The navy greeted the president with traditional military flourishes. A company of marines snapped to salute and the band gave four ruffles and flourishes and swung into "Hail To The Chief," the presidential march, as his automobile entered.

Postpone Action On Resolution to Replace Black Top

City Council to Meet With Contractor, Experts Friday Evening

What Council Did:

Postponed action on request to replace black top on College avenue until Friday night when the contractor will have a paving expert to represent him.

Opened bids on Third street paving and referred them to the city engineer for tabulation. Set the evening of June 8 as the date for a public hearing on the type of paving to be used on Third street.

Purchased street department equipment and materials from a number of companies.

Awarded a contract to the Balliet Supply company, Appleton, to furnish two or three carloads of chlorine for the sewage treatment plant.

Purchased an ice box for the city home from the Lutz Ice company.

Adopted an ordinance setting up a building code for Appleton.

The city council last night mapped a busy week for itself when it postponed action on the board of public works resolution to instruct Charles A. Green and Son, Inc., to replace all the black top on College avenue and then set a date for a public hearing to select the type of paving for Third street.

Carson Green, representing the Green company, asked the council to postpone a vote on the board's resolution because, he said, his company had not been informed and he was not prepared to discuss the avenue pavement until Friday night when he would have a paving expert at the council meeting to represent him. The council adjourned to 7:30 Friday evening to hear the Green company's arguments.

The arguments on whether to pave Third street were duplicated last night by property owners and petitions that only a Solomon could figure out were presented. However, pro and con arguments and cries of "dirty work" filled the air, the council took the "bull by the horns" and opened bids, referred them to the city engineer for tabulation and set the evening of June 8 for a public hearing on the type of paving to be used.

Sign Both Petitions

It developed that petitions presented to the council meant nothing because four or five of the same property owners signed petitions for and against the paving and both

Japan Agrees to Act on Demands

Promises Restitution of American-Owned Property in China

Washington—(AP)—Japan agreed today to meet almost all demands for restitution of American property in China and for the right of unhindered return of Americans to their posts there.

The state department, on the basis of telegrams from the American consul general at Shanghai, announced that:

The Japanese restored to the American Southern Baptist mission yesterday their high school properties in the Chapei district of Shanghai.

The Japanese military authorities have agreed to the return of American missionaries to Nanking and have issued 10 passes for this purpose.

Meanwhile, Ambassador Grew at Tokyo was informed today by the Japanese foreign office that Japan was sending an "interdepartmental committee to visit the Japanese-controlled area in central China not only to investigate the situation relating to the occupancy of American property but also to formulate means for satisfactory adjustment of the situation."

This announcement, said the state department, concerned the demand for restitution to the American owners of the University of Shanghai and of other American properties.

Jail Breaker Reported Under Arrest in Iowa

Wisconsin Rapids—(AP)—Sheriff Henry Becker today announced receipts of information from police of Mansfield, Ohio, that Jevons Zalnisky, 32, salesman of Des Moines, Iowa, who escaped from the Wood county jail May 15, was in custody at Mansfield.

Zalnisky, with another prisoner, saved his way out of the jail last week after his arrest on a first degree manslaughter charge in connection with a highway accident, in which three persons were killed May 8 a coroner's jury had found Zalnisky negligent.

Becker said the telegram stated, Zalnisky would waive extradition. Becker left to get the prisoner.

After Zalnisky escaped, Sheriff Becker received a letter from Zalnisky, enclosing $10 for repairs of damage he had done to the jail in making his escape.

The Wood county board subsequently cleared jail attendants in the escape, placing the blame upon the jail's condition.

SENATE CANDIDATE

Alexander Wiley, Chippewa Falls, announced today that he will seek the Republican nomination for United States senator. He was the 1936 Republican nominee for governor.

Wiley Announces He Is Candidate For U. S. Senate

Sees Threat to American Democracy Under Pres- ent National Leaders

Chippewa Falls, Wis.—(AP)—Alexander Wiley, Chippewa Falls attorney and 1936 Republican nominee for governor, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

With his announcement, coming on the eve of the state Republican convention which opens at Fond du Lac tomorrow, Wiley issued a statement emphasizing:

"I believe the real issue is this: If the present political leaders in the nation and state continue to inflict their political philosophy upon this nation, can the nation much longer preserve its system known as American democracy?"

Although he declared "relief should be strictly divorced from both politics and pump priming," Wiley asserted federal financial aid should be broadened and "impetus should be given to the economic life of the nation by a rational and constructive treatment of business, resulting in more jobs and less relief."

Outlines Aims

Wiley advocated reorganization of taxation to eliminate consumer's taxes; removal of all exemptions from government bonds and salaries; federal labor legislation to "emphasize the mutuality of interests of employees and employers as well as the public" and to "elevate the public interest to the place it merits in any employee-employer controversy"; and scrapping "the present grotesque attempt to help the farmers by coercing them into producing less wealth."

He said the nation should develop a soil conservation program "which would conserve the soil without compelling an anti-American reshaping of our agricultural economy."

In general, Wiley declared "all attempts to centralize more power in Washington should be resisted."

The indictment charging illegal fixing of jobbers' profit margins was one of two returned by the federal grand jury here. The first indictment charged conspiracy to raise and fix the price of gasoline in the Midwest in 1935 and 1936. On this indictment 16 major companies and 30 officials were convicted last Jan. 22.

Judge Stone has before him motions to set aside these convictions. Judge Stone announced from the bench he would rule on the motions next week, but after conferring with attorneys he said he would defer a ruling until next month.

Britain Acts to Hasten Proposal For Spanish Truce

Chamberlain Orders New Activity to Safeguard Europe's Peace

London.—(P)—Great Britain urged the non-intervention subcommittee to greater speed today on her proposal for withdrawing foreign troops from Spain, hoping to pave the way quickly for a truce in the Spanish civil war.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was reported to have ordered, fresh diplomatic activity by Britain's representatives in Spain, Czechoslovakia, Germany, and France to safeguard Europe's peace.

Britain has made no actual moves either toward government or insurgent Spain for a truce, but informed sources disclosed she was considering the possibility of bringing representatives from Barcelona and Burgos together.

One obstacle to the Chamberlain program was removed today when Soviet Russia, receding from her previous position, agreed to the British plan for withdrawal of foreign troops from Spain on condition that "effective sea control" be enforced.

Demands Observers

Samuel Kagan, Russian member of the nonintervention subcommittee, announced this concession but added that "the soviet government must reiterate its proposal that international observers be permanently stationed in Spanish ports."

(Italian and German aid reaches the Spanish insurgents by sea.)

The subcommittee adjourned to meet again June 10.

General agreement on withdrawal of foreigners from the Spanish armies would simplify Britain's task in arranging an armistice.

Her decision to make the attempt was influenced largely by the belief that Spain's war, now almost two years old, was the major threat to peace and other issues could be wiped clear if it were settled.

British officials disclosed a reply from insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco to London's protest over the bombing of two British ships, the Thorpehall and Penhames, in air raids on Spanish government ports.

Twofold Plan

The reply expressed regret, and promised a "full investigation," but declared it was a "misapprehension" for London to believe British shipping was picked deliberately as targets for attack.

The cabinet was understood to have approved Chamberlain's twofold plans:

1. To bring the Spanish government and Spanish insurgents together in a roundtable peace conference, a course which unconfirmed reports said Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy already had approved.

2. Negotiation of a solution of the difficulties between the Czechoslovak government and its minority of sudeten Germans who have pledged "protection" of Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany.

The government's hope of mediating the Spanish civil war, which will have been drawn out for two years on July 18, was based on two factors.

1. The belief in influential quarters that many Spaniards on both sides of the conflict are sick of war and would welcome a peace parley.

2. Definite signs of progress toward obtaining withdrawal of foreign volunteers fighting in the war.

Jury to Determine Damages in Suits

The insurance company asks half of a settlement of $1,225 made with Victor DeGroot, a passenger in the Miller car, who was injured in the crash.

Members of the jury are Alois E. Schmidt, Charles Schlegel, Martin P. Cahill, Joseph Landers, Earl Lutz, George Rechner, William Bucholz, A. Sharpe, Eugene Daschelet, William Lyons and Joseph B. Nickasch.

Miss Marion Brautigan, 628 S. Outagamie street, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital Wednesday for a gynecological operation.

Proceeds From Poppy Sale Total $656.76; Gain Over Last Year

The contributions which Appleton citizens made during Poppy day last Saturday amounted to $656.76, the auxiliary of the Oney Johnston post of the American Legion reported today. The figure is $40 higher than a year ago.

The paper flowers, apparently were popular with the populace here, for the entire lot of 7,000 was sold. Proceeds go towards the help of disabled veterans in this vicinity and throughout the state.

The auxiliary awarded prizes to four members of the junior auxiliary who turned in the best sales record for the day. They are as follows: Doris Van Dinter, first; Brownie Laux, second; Lois Bauerfeind, third; and Betty Richter, fourth.

State's Experts Challenge Duncan Defense at Trial

leave symptoms which could be detected several days later.

On cross examination, Joseph Brazzy of the defense asked if confusion could be the result of such a spasm.

Jefferson answered "yes," but added he thought that if it were severe enough to cause confusion it would be improbable functions of other parts of the body would be left unimpaired.

Dr. Rosenberger said he could conceive of confusion resulting from a spasm but added "I have never seen it."

Before calling upon its medical experts, the state offered the testimony of 10 other rebuttal witnesses.

Grip Found on Floor

One told of finding Duncan's grip on the floor of his car at the right of the driver's seat. Another said a partly filled whiskey bottle lay on top of an envelope filled with papers. Duncan had said the envelope was the last thing he put into the grip.

Policeman I. C. Brown said he detected an alcoholic odor on Duncan's breath at 1:45 a. m. March 10, several hours after his arrest. Hugo Goehlen, deputy inspector of police, said he also detected such an odor when he questioned Duncan at 9:50 p. m. March 9.

Evidence in Duncan's behalf was closed yesterday.

"Passed Out"

Duncan testified he has no recollection of the accident or of events immediately preceding and following it. He also told of "passing out" in the governor's office last Oct. 16 and of regaining consciousness in his hotel room an hour and a half later. He was similarly stricken the night before while conferring at the governor's home, he said. The mental lapse was brief that time, he added.

To support its contention, the defense presented the testimony of Dr. William F. Lorenz, director of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute, and Dr. William J. Bleckwenn, Madison specialist in nervous and mental diseases. Both are on the faculty of the University of Wisconsin medical school teaching staff.

They testified they examined Duncan while he was a patient at the Madison General hospital for a month following the accident.

Hardening of Arteries

They diagnosed his ailment as cerebral arterio-sclerosis, characterized by angio spasms. In lay language, they explained this is hardening of arteries in the brain and periodic constriction of the diseased blood vessels.

"Is this condition progressive?" asked Joseph Brazzy of defense counsel.

"Yes," Dr. Lorenz testified yesterday.

"Is it serious?"

"Yes," Dr. Lorenz said organs and tissues failing to receive the customary supply of blood no longer function. In the brain, he added, this would result in paralysis of a person's side, an arm or leg; unconsciousness; impairment of speech; sight or hearing; or a period of confusion and bewilderment.

"It would depend upon the portion of the brain affected," he explained.

May Result in Death

He added that a person might not know what he was doing, who he was, or where he was but that other parts of his body would continue to function.

Prolonged complete closure of the blood vessels may result in the death of the part of the body they serve, he testified, while a partial closure may interfere with its functioning.

Throughout the testimony of the two doctors, District Attorney Steffes and his assistant, Charles Kersten, succeeded in preventing the defense from eliciting opinions as to whether Duncan had suffered a spasm the night of the accident. Time and again such questions were put, but upon the prosecution's objections answers were not permitted by Circuit Judge G. N. Risjord of Ashland, who is hearing

Farmers of Three Counties Oppose Reservoir Project as Hearings End

Wisconsin Rapids.—(P)—A public service commission hearing into the public value of a flowage of the Little Eau Pleine river ended here late yesterday after additional testimony against the contemplated reservoir project was offered by farmers from Wood, Portage and Marathon counties.

Adolph Kannenberg, sitting as examiner for the commission, took the record under advisement.

The hearing was held on petition of the town board of Eau Pleine, Portage county, to determine the benefit of the plan to the "health, safety, convenience and welfare" of the public.

Would File Brief

Attorney R. L. Grover of Junction City, representing a group of landowners who would be affected by the flowage, said he would file a brief with the commission in support of his contention the petition was not legally approved by the town board.

Fifteen witnesses opposed the project, which was described as a flood control and pollution abating factor in the Wisconsin river between Mosinee and Sauk City. All were farmers or landowners who minimized effects of fire and stench nuisance alleged present now in the lowlands proposed to be inundated.

Most of them declared they would not oppose construction of the project if the statute requiring purchase of 85 per cent of the agricultural land before flowage was invoked. All asserted their land in the reservoir area was of value for agricultural and pasture purposes.

Tuesday 12 witnesses, including farmers from the reservoir district, testified in favor of the project.

Warplanes Clear Way for Important Japanese Thrusts

Chinese Field Gun Positions Damaged Heavily in Air Raid

Shanghai.—(P)—Warplanes of the army of Nippon again spread a trail of destruction today through towns and villages about the Lunghai railway, and Japanese said this enabled their columns to make important gains.

The Japanese announced they had occupied a corner of Kihhsien, 20 miles south of Lanfeng, after an hour's fight. Chinese field gun positions north of Kihhsien were damaged heavily.

For two weeks, the Japanese have been fighting for staunchly defended villages about Lanfeng, railway station on the Lunghai on the westward route to Chengchow, whence they hope to turn southward in a mass offensive against Hankow, China's provisional capital.

Claim Town Occupied

One Japanese detachment claimed occupation of Luyi, 15 miles west of Pohsien, thereby helping to straighten the 75-mile crescent-shaped front running south from Lanfeng.

Supporting the land forces on this central China front, Japanese planes concentrated on towns back from the railway right-of-way about Lanfeng, where Chinese said they still were holding firm.

Capture by Chinese of three villages north and east of Lanfeng kept Japanese from lifting the siege of the division commanded by Lieutenant Kenji Doihara, the defenders said.

A Chinese motor unit of 4,500 men fought one of the bitterest battles of the day 20 miles west of Kwei-tieh, another. Lunghai railway point in Honan province. The Chinese were reported routed after several hours' fighting.

Continue Offensive

The Japanese aerial offensive continued also in south China, and the Canton railway got another of its daily bombardments. A trainload of gasoline was said to have been exploded by the attackers, contributing to a rupture in traffic.

From Chefoo came reports of a speeding up of military activity, with Japanese marines maneuvering against Chinese irregulars who repeatedly have been harassing Japanese in that region. Cruisers in the harbor and airplanes added the marine offensive, shelling Fushan, which is 10 miles west of Foochow.

Three Chinese gunboats at Foochow have been sunk the past two days at their anchorages at the mouth of the Min river. The gunboat crews reached shore safely. Five foreign ships were in the harbor, within 200 yards of one of the sunken craft.

J. I. Case Workers Returning to Jobs

Union Votes to Leave Controversy in Hands of Arbitrators

Rockford, Ill.—(P)—Employees of the J. I. Case company headed back to work today pending a final settlement of an inter-union dispute which caused the plant to close April 25.

Members of the United Automobile Workers of America voted at a mass meeting last night to return to their jobs and leave arbitration of the dispute to the plant management and a union bargaining committee.

The U. A. W., an affiliate of the CIO, claimed 1,200 of the 1,500 plant employees as members. The others either were members of rival American Federation of Labor unions or unaffiliated.

The proposal in which the U. A. W. members concurred last night was suggested by John L. Conner, United States department of labor mediator. Under its terms, the union committee and the plant management would begin arbitration immediately and continue daily conferences until they reach a final settlement.

Mass picketing, a riot, injunction proceedings and arrests marked the course of the dispute.

Independent workers and members of the A. F. of L. unions charged the U. A. W. attempted forcibly to collect dues and prevented them from entering the plant unless they showed union dues receipts. The U. A. W. is the recognized bargaining agent.

Mother in 'Last Plea' for Return Of Her Daughter

Bradford, Pa.—(P)—Today, the fifth birthday of blue-eyed, red-haired Marjory West, who disappeared mysteriously on a Mother's day picnic 25 years ago, brought a tragic "last plea" from her distraught mother.

"Won't you return Marjory to me today, her birthday," begged Mrs. Shirley M. West, in a broadcast to "the person who picked her up."

"I'm giving you a chance to return her with safety to yourself. . . . I cannot sleep or eat until my little girl is returned. . . . If you prefer to wait until dark then drop her off on any street in Bradford but first give her a note with her name and address on it. . . . Explain carefully what she is to do. . . . For she is such a little girl. . . ."

I never will rest until Marjory is found. . . ."

Friends of the family said they knew of no tangible clues indicating the girl had been kidnapped, despite a hunt led by 100 state motor police and joined in by several thousand volunteers. The mother would not say she knew of such clues.

Honest Elections Issue Is Raised By Appropriation

Revived N.E.C. Played Big Part in 1936 Campaign, Lawrence States

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — If the headlines were to announce that the Democratic National committee had dipped its hands into the treasury of the United States and taken therefrom $850,000 worth of currency to be used to help elect Democratic congressmen this autumn, the country might be outraged — one wonders if, in these days of caloused morality, anything can really arouse the electorate.

Yet the virtual equivalent of the above described hypothetical case has just been approved by the senate through a preponderance of rubber-stamp votes on behalf of the administration.

The money is to come out of the treasury, to be sure, and the house of representatives said it should be only about $250,000, but now the senate has added $600,000 and the purpose is ostensibly to carry on the operations of a government agency, known as the National Emergency council, but in reality it is to assure the election of New Deal senators and representatives.

The "N. E. C." has been revived after it was allowed to become almost inoperative. It played a big part in the 1936 campaign and was about to be abolished—in fact, it was ordered abolished—when President Roosevelt listened to some of his "left wing" advisers, who told him what could be done with the National Emergency council if it had a little money this campaign year.

JEFFERSON SCHOOL FIRST GRADERS BUILD GREENHOUSE

The final project of the school term for pupils of Miss Freda Lewis' first grade at Jefferson school was construction of a greenhouse. Shown in the above picture are some of the pupils who helped build the greenhouse and some of the plants and flowers grown. Left to right the pupils are: Ronald Selig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Selig, 811 W. Lawrence street; Beverly Breuer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Breuer, 827 W. Spencer street; Norene Salentine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Salentine, 506 S. Walnut street; Robert Hubbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hubbell, 404 W. Eighth street; Emaline Hull, daughter of Mrs. Lorraine Krause, 1348 W. Spencer street. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Happenings in 1936 To understand what this council does, one needs to go back to what happened in 1936. The money for it was taken out of the general relief appropriation and was used to pay the expenses of an office, propaganda, and meetings of state and federal officials in every state of the union, representatives of the N. E. C.

would order the executives of all the important federal government agencies to sit down together with the executives of all the various state government departments and bureaus.

The method was a simple one. It was a meeting presumably to "coordinate" or to make known vital information about the progress of the federal agencies. Actually, the meetings were attended by politicians as well as office holders and there were distributed campaign textbooks for local consumption. Thus there was a Nevada textbook and a Missouri textbook and a Minnesota textbook and so on through all the 48 states. In these books were assembled all the propaganda on how effective the New Deal had been in producing local recovery. The spending and lending was chartered for each state.

One wonders what they will put in the new textbooks which doubtless are to be distributed. Possibly they will fill up the books with lies and Jackson speeches blaming everybody else except the administration for the present Roosevelt recession which has put 11,000,000 men out of jobs.

State Machines The Democrats have about 40 or more state machines, and it was considered important in 1936 to get the state house crowds working with the federal crowd. And they did work together. Mr. Farley's organization was a mere side-show compared to the larger federal government political machine.

The WPA and the PWA and the AAA naturally played a big part in all this, in fact these three agencies mobilized the vote, but the propaganda for election purposes was distributed throughout the federal agencies by the National Emergency council. The word "emergency" was well chosen, because never was a political emergency better met by government funds and government literature than in the 1936 campaign.

The American people have been accustomed to a fight between two major campaign committees. The Republicans, after a great deal of activity, managed to get a few paltry millions to express their viewpoint through pamphlets and speakers, but the New Deal has the benefit of the work of billions of dollars disbursed by agencies whose very executives are tied together in a federal-state combination which goes out to get votes and uses government money to do it.

All the persons who receive checks either for loans or for relief are listed through these government agencies. The persons who receive favors are called upon to reciprocate by getting New Deal votes to the polls.

Honest Elections The National Emergency council appropriation just passed by both houses raises the issue of honest elections more concretely than any other circumstance could possibly do it. And if the administration wishes convincingly to refute the charge of political use of this $850,000, it might well consent to an amendment making it a crime for any member of the federal agencies or for any member of a state agency receiving federal funds to discuss politics at the N. E. C. meetings or to distribute any political propaganda or to engage in any political activity between now and November, 1938, either on or off government premises.

Likewise there should be provision for a stenographic record of the proceedings of these meetings of federal and state agencies and a copy thereof should be made public within one week after the meetings have been held and made available to the press. There are plenty of ways of protecting the public against immorality in the use of government funds, if the New Deal really wants to do a sincere job of "coordinating," even by an almost extinct agency known as the National Emergency council. # TWO SURVIVING WAUPACA VETERANS

William C. Cowan (left), and James H. Minton (right), are the only living veterans of the Civil war in the city of Waupaca. Mr. Cowan will be 92 years of age next Monday, while Mr. Minton celebrated his ninety-second birthday March 12. The two were honored at Memorial day services Monday at Waupaca. Two other Civil war veterans remain in Waupaca county, as members of the Wisconsin Veterans' Home.

City of Waupaca Still Has 2 Surviving 'Boys in Blue'

Waupaca—Of the approximately 10,000 remaining Union and Confederate soldiers in the nation, two reside in the city of Waupaca—James Hughes Minton who celebrated his ninety-second birthday on March 12, and William C. Cowan who will be 92 on June 6. Two more Civil war veterans remain in the county, but as residents of the Veterans' Home, they are Duffy Boutin, 94, and Israel Cannon, 98.

Mr. Minton was born in London, England, coming to America with his parents when 6 years of age and settling in Waupaca. Here he enlisted in the 28th Wisconsin Infantry. He is the last survivor of that regiment.

Mr. Cowan was born in Windsor, Ohio, but while still an infant he moved with his parents and four brothers to Green Lake county, Wisconsin. The journey here was made in two covered wagons. He was but 17 years of age when the last call for soldiers came in May, 1864, and he enlisted from Ripon with Company B of the 41st Wisconsin Infantry. He returned home in September on a stretcher and is the last of that company of 100 men still alive.

The son of a shoemaker, Cowan's earliest recollections are of having to go barefooted except in the

Concert Season To Open June 15

New London High School Band To Present Series Of Performances

New London—The first outdoor band concert at Franklin Square park will be presented by the New London High school band Wednesday evening, sectional rehearsals announced by M. S. Zahrt, director. Concerts will be held at 8 o'clock each Wednesday evening thereafter to Aug. 24, except the first two weeks in July.

The senior band has a full schedule of activities during the summer with a full 2-hour rehearsal at the high school each Monday evening, concerts every Wednesday evening, sectional rehearsals every Tuesday and Wednesday during the day and an extra rehearsal on Tuesday evening if necessary. Attendance at summer rehearsals is counted toward letter awards the following year. Rehearsals will begin the week of June 13.

Summer classes for beginning band and orchestra students will be held once each week at the Washington High school auditorium throughout the summer. Mr. Zahrt recently completed aptitude tests of all fifth, sixth, and seventh grade pupils in the city, except the Most Precious Blood school due to a misunderstanding regarding the closing date to determine which students are best fitted to study band and orchestral instruments. Those children who successfully passed the tests will be most acceptable to study.

The summer instruction will be offered free of charge under Mr. Zahrt, beginning June 13. Details and advantages of the program will be explained to interested parents and children at a meeting at the Washington High school auditorium at 8 o'clock Monday evening, June 13.

76 Persons Served At Star Dinner for Mothers, Daughters

New London—Seventy-six were served at the annual Mother-Daughter banquet of the Order of Eastern Star at the Masonic temple here Tuesday evening.

Flowers were presented to the youngest daughter and oldest mother at the 6:30 dinner and program, honors for the first distinction going to the 101-month-old daughter of Mrs. Gordon Popke of Oshkosh, formerly of New London and still a member of the New London lodge; the second to Mrs. Carrie Spaulding, 215 Shawano street.

Mothers' greetings were extended by Mrs. C. H. Kellogg and the response given by her daughter, Lina. There were piano solos by Alice Cristy and Marilyn Stewart; readings by Alice Stanley, Barbara Kuehler, Shiocton, and Shirley Fostad; a cornet solo by Audrey Dean accompanied by Maurice Levine; a vocal solo by Polley Hartquist; and a vocal trio by Millicent Blissett, Mary Dawson and Patricia Egan accompanied by Miss Mary K. Donahue. There were brief remarks by the lodge's worthy matron, Mrs. William Oake of Shiocton. Mrs. Kellogg and Miss Mildred Carter were in charge of the program.

New London Personalities

New London—Wayne, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Romberg, route 1, Winneconne, underwent an operation at Community hospital yesterday.

Mrs. Verna Kopitzke, Weyauwega, submitted to an operation at Community hospital yesterday.

Mr. Cowan delighted in recalling the days when S. M. Booth the abolitionist, came to Ripon to escape the United States marshall who had caused his arrest in Milwaukee for his activities in transporting slaves to Canada "through the underground railway." Booth spent some time in Ripon. At a public meeting where he was preaching the doctrine of "abolition" Booth would have again been arrested by two marshals who entered the building, had not the crowd pushed them down the stairs while Cowan spirited Booth out the back door.

Serving on the board of trustees of the Wisconsin Veterans' home Mr. Cowan was treasurer for 12 years. He is the only surviving member of the H. A. Eggleston post of Ripon with its original membership of 135.

Both Mr. Minton and Mr. Cowan were given special recognition at the Memorial day services as the two surviving veterans residing in Waupaca county.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will keep the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Swimming Pool and City Playground Program Will Get Underway Next Week

New London—Swimming pool and city playground activities will swing into full schedule Monday afternoon next week it was announced yesterday by R. M. Shortell, city recreation director.

The Hatten Memorial park pool will open to bathers Monday according to present plans. Filling of the pool was started yesterday after a thorough cleaning and tarring of all joints. An inner guard fence is being erected and a new professional diving board will be mounted this week.

A free swim day will be held one day, Saturday, June 11, for all persons to formally mark the opening of the season. The pool will be open to everyone each afternoon except Sunday from 2 o'clock through the supper hour to 10 o'clock in the evening. The hours on Sunday will be from 1:30 until 6 o'clock. A general admission charge of 10 cents will be made except to adults with season tickets and boys and girls of high school age and under who will be allowed in the pool free of charge during specified periods.

Free periods for high school students and grade school children will be from 2 until 4 o'clock each week day afternoon. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays will be for girls and Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays for boys. Others may swim during these times provided they pay the admission charge.

No Morning Swimming

No swimming will be allowed in the morning this summer to encourage participation in the complete playground program which is being arranged by Mr. Shortell. All playground activities for boys and girls from 8 to 17 years of age will be provided at the Washington High school ground every weekday morning from 9 to 12 o'clock. The city recreation director has requested all parents to send their children to the school grounds rather than allow them to play in the streets.

Equipment will be available at any time in the mornings for all such games as horseshoe, backball, softball, croquet, volleyball and other games. The equipment may be used by groups or individuals for leisure play without signing up in leagues.

However, leagues will be formed in any activity which draws enough interest and at the end of the season awards will be made to participants. Points will be awarded to individuals according to participation in the various games and trophy cups will be awarded in senior and junior divisions to the two boys with the most points. Cups also will be awarded to the winners of the boys' and girls' swimming meet held at the end of the summer.

Awards to Winners

Winners of cups will have their names engraved on them and may keep them for one year. They may be kept permanently if won by the same person for three years. The four cups were donated last year by the Lions and Rotary clubs, Business and Professional Women's club, and Women's Civic Improvement league. They are on display now at the Little Barber shop. In addition ribbons will be awarded to members of all first place league teams and first place in the swimming meet and other tournaments. Boys are being signed at high school this week for league play in all activities. Softball leagues for senior boys will be played at 9:30

THE TVA INQUIRY

People should pay particular attention to the congressional inquiry into the Tennessee Valley Authority. Unless they do they can hardly exercise with even ordinary intelligence the duty of suffrage. Congress has appointed a joint committee to inquire into TVA operations, not for the purpose of ascertaining the yardstick value of this venture in any political sense but because congress has heretofore conferred upon TVA vast and far-reaching functions of government, a delegation of power and authority that becomes essential every time the nation goes into a private business undertaking. It is manifest that neither congress nor a congressional committee can handle any such extensive business as TVA. It isn't practical for congress to decide when to build a new dam, where to extend feed lines, how to construct villages or cities for thousands of workers to reside in nor the best means of settling spurious or honest claims made by private parties. So congress has charged TVA with the duty and responsibility of dealing directly with a veritable host of confusing problems bound to arise when a business involving hundreds of millions is created. Thus TVA becomes a sort of government in and of itself. The three TVA directors exercise in many respects the functions that naturally belong to congress. They determine far-reaching matters of policy. They fix upon plans that not only may take years in development but may just as surely turn the course of population in several states, ruin or make towns, destroy or permit to live private competition, and all with no chance of appeal unless the bounds of authority are overstepped. Do the people look with satisfaction or misgiving upon this departure from American ways and American legislative methods and American legislative responsibility? Shall there be more and other supreme delegations of power of this character? What is the chance of the misuse of power? To what extent must corruption be faced? Will the misuse and corruption be such as to destroy such virtues or advantages as might develop? It will be seen that this joint congressional committee carries a great weight in that the inquiry must not only be complete but judicial and impartial, not for the purpose of upholding or condemning this or any other administration but with the intent of ascertaining whether this recent departure in the functions of the national government shall be continued and extended or curtailed and terminated.

THAT OLD, OLD TREATY OF 1928

Our Secretary of State has spoken to Europe again, particularly to Germany. He sent a reminder of the terms of the Kellogg-Briand pact whereby war as an instrument for settling national grievances was forever abandoned and denounced. Although this solemn treaty was signed but ten years ago it has a lavender odor about it as though it had been packed away with some great great grandmother's wedding gown back there before the war of 1812. Beside it the one hoss shay, bustles, boots, hoopskirts and clocks with wooden mechanisms seem somewhat young. Perhaps Mr. Hull released his letter reminding the world of this agreement as much for America's benefit as that of anyone else. It probably won't do much good in any other quarter. It may bring out our little store may be put in treaties however clear their words or honest the methods employed at obtaining them. But the suspicion is that Mr. Hull wrote this letter at the solicitation of Great Britain and that Germany has come to the same conclusion. Thus we continue to stick our foot into the European mess without advantage to ourselves or help to others but with the likelihood that we will convince Britain of our willingness to accompany her further should she find it necessary or advisable to go to war.

MEXICO REMOVES ANOTHER THREAT

Senor Cardenas is not the only patriot who longs to die for Mexico. Senor Victor Fernandez Manero, governor of the red hot state of Tabasco, and in whose veins also flows the blood of a champion of the people, squelched another Mexican revolution right on his doorstep. There are no churches in Tabasco. They have all been razed to the ground. Manero's predecessor performed this patriotic act of freedom. He reasoned that dead men tell no tales and razed churches cast no shadows.

But, the other day, rebellion, that moves around Mexico like the yellow fever, inoculated some of the lowbrowed citizens of Tabasco and they formed in a parade to demonstrate their right to erect a church. Trotskyists, Fascists or hounds of hell that they were, did they not actually attempt to erect a makeshift temple? Enough! The blood of the conquerors tingled in Manero's cheeks. His noble troops, fat, wine and dined, rolled out to the rescue. Several of the church-erecting villains were killed. The makeshift church was destroyed.

Liberty was again established in Tabasco. Is it not magnificent to observe how nobly Socialists uphold the basic right of religious worship?

THE LEOPARD TINTS ITS SPOTS

Mr. Browder, secretary of the Communists in America, has issued a manifesto outlining the new gospel to the faithful. Among other things he declares as the guiding beacon of light for the immediate future: "We cannot shove the Communist party into everybody's face in such a way as to make the party offensive to the people. Nor should we uncover all our forces in those cases where it is necessary to have people working without being known as communists. We are speaking of a transitional form of government before the victory of the proletarian revolution." It is Mr. Browder's judgment that people may be told to their faces that a party sympathizes with them when it does not, is their friend when it is not, will advance their cause when it seeks a wholly different goal, and yet they are so short in memory they will be led to embrace in good fellowship the very men who tell them that when the time is ripe they will stab them through a thousand hearts. This is one of the disturbing signs in relation to democracy, its present and its future. It helps make of democracy the sorry spectacle that dictators paint it when they are denouncing it before their millions, before people who believe it to be an abandoned relic of long ago because men like Browder and his organization can hold it up to ridicule. The test is still in the mold. The outcome is shrouded in great doubt. But the truth concerning democracy is clear—for several hundred years it made remarkable progress but with the World war it was brought to a positive halt and since then has been in retreat. Its greatest enemy today is not Hitler or his kind. It is Browder and his kind. Had there been no Communism with its foul program of human degradation, Mussolini, Hitler, Franco and the like would be unknown, and the Japanese army would not have killed a million innocent Chinese people. Today democracy has its back to the wall. Retreat past that wall may become a rout. And with a rout all will be lost for countless generations. Within the next decade we shall see whether the great American principles of government nurtured so affectionately by intelligent people everywhere can stand in the midst of continuing storm. And the solution is to be found in the answer to a question: Have the masses of the people really the intelligence with which they have been credited?

Opinions of Others

OUR "SCENIC RESOURCES"
Our forefathers would have scratched their heads in wonderment if they had come across such an expression as "scenic resources." Of those who were blind to natural beauty. Those who had time and gifts of self-expression were writing of it and trying to paint it more than a century ago. But nature bothered the pioneer rather more than she delighted him. The mountains had to be crossed, the rivers forded or ferried, water found in the deserts, trees girdled or cut down to make clearings where corn would grow. Not until a good deal of the countryside was tamed could we really enjoy the wildness of the remaining part. Not until pretty recently have we perceived that this wildness has to be cherished or it will be lost. So "scenic resources" now mean something definite to us, just as timber resources or mineral resources did a few decades ago. They are something we need to sustain or improve the quality of our lives. We can pick up with pleasure, and with much sense of controversy, one of the TVA's latest publications: "The Scenic Resources of the Tennessee Valley." A Descriptive and Pictorial Inventory. The TVA's policy has stirred up a hornet's nest, though there is now reason to hope that the buzzing will soon abate in some kind of truce and delimitation of territory. But no one can quarrel with its scenery policy. The Tennessee Valley is one of the country's loveliest regions. If it competes unfairly with other regions, that is nature's fault, not man's—certainly not the New Deal's. The White Mountains, the Green Mountains, the Sierras, the Rockies, the Adirondacks, the hazy spread of thundering coast from Maine to Florida, from San Diego to the mouth of the Columbia, the Painted Deserts of the Southwest, the Great Lakes, the rivers gathering and going down to the sea—these have intangible values that sometimes outweigh the tangible ones. They are resources that well guarded, will feed the soul of man forever. It is the highest type of conservation that preserves them.—New York Times.

Although Jefferson's Declaration of Independence was adopted on July 4, 1776, the colonies had adopted the resolution of independence July 2.

STOO, who will take over this spot for a week later on in the month, should be properly resentful of the gag I spotted in a Chicago Tribune column the other day . . . the squib in question reads: "Overheard (at the Municipal airport) by R.L.L.: 'If you don't like Chicago weather, wait a minute' . . . it was Stoo who first introduced such a gag into print here, and, even though some people say the gag is as old as Stoo, the fact remains that he beat the Trib on it . . ."

OKAY, MAKE IT "STET." THEN

Here comes "Stet" with a poem,
Just to show what he's got,
Now "Missus Gee Double You,"
Please tell me — I'm Hot.
Say that you like my stuff,
Tell me to repeat —
Then for "Little Bundle"
I'll really turn on the heat.
But to "Jonah, — THE Coroner,"
The Razz-z-z berry king,
Give "Quote-marks" the next time
You write a "STET" heading.

President Roosevelt and his stooges have decided not to reopen the reorganization bill during this session.
Sure, sure sure.

And I have decided not to take off three months for my usual vacation in Banff, the Canadian Rockies, Vancouver and San Francisco. I am not, moreover, buying a portion of Pierce Park from the city and putting up a $98,000 home this summer, despite any rumors you may have heard.

Nosirree. I have decided not.

Tomorrow we have a brief sketch of Honey's absent-minded professor.

A Verse for Today
By Anne Campbell

THE HAPPINESS OF KNOWING YOU

I can be robbed of many joyful hours,
And still keep smiling for a lifetime through.
This rainbow shines after Life's April showers:
The happiness of knowing you!

I could relinquish many a gold token,
And only ask of Fate a boon or two,
If I could hold in harmony unbroken,
The happiness of knowing you!

You compensate for disappointment, loss
And every dream that never could come true.
Daily I have, to help me bear my cross,
The happiness of knowing you!

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO
Thursday, May 31, 1928

Robert Neller was elected captain of the 1929 track team of Appleton High School. Neller had been Fox River Valley pole vault conference champion the last two years. He recently soared 10 feet 9 inches for a new record.

President Coolidge had selected a summer White House on the Brule river, 39 miles from Superior, Wis.

H. W. Tutunip, president of the Citizens National bank, was elected president of the Outagamie County Bankers association the previous evening at Hotel Northern. Other officers were Theodore Nickodem, Seymour, vice president; H. J. Behling, Freedom, secretary and treasurer.

Jumping from obscurity to fame overnight, Louis Meyer, boyish looking Los Angeles driver, Thursday found himself acclaimed the newest hero of the automobile racing world. The 23-year old racer thrilled a crowd of more than 140,000 spectators by coming from behind in the last 30 miles of the race to win the 500-mile classic at the Indianapolis speedway the previous day.

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, June 5, 1913

It was possible an airplane would be used at Camp Douglas this summer while the First and Second regiments were maneuvering at the Wisconsin military reservation. Private Arthur Hantschel, Appleton, Company C, had made a request to take his airplane there at his own expense for practical demonstration.

P. A. Kornely had received word from the Chicago and North Western railway company that the road would purchase property between Drew and Durkee streets for the purpose of a new freight depot.

A crew of men commenced that morning on the work of bracing the west wall of the building occupied by the Rossmist Shoe company, which had been gradually bulging out for some time. The building was one of the oldest business blocks in the city and had been occupied by its present tenants for more than 25 years.

Personal Health Talks

ODD HOUSE

No use sighing over it, we here-by relinquish the intention of building ramps, instead of stairs in Odd House. It seems people have always had staircases in their homes, and it is such fun trying to make a staircase decorative as well as useful, and housemaids would hardly know how to pass the time if there were not a few dozen corners to clean and dust . . . besides, a ramp in a private residence would be ridiculous. Mrs. W. J. W. urges that Odd House should be built without cracks. She can conceive no reason why wood, plaster and other construction should not be built without cracks. She has spent enough time chasing insects in and out of cracks to have taken a college course. Sounds all right to me. I am informed cracks are desirable in antique furniture and in old pottery and old china. So the outlook seems fair for passing Mrs. W. J. W.'s motion. Just which insects she means we don't know. If it is ants, cockroaches, bedbugs, fleas, it is not enough to chase 'em. Better annihilate them. Little Lesson No. 13, "Unbidden Guests," gives instructions for dealing with 13 insects, vermin or parasites which most commonly are unwelcome company. L. K. suggests that the floors of Odd House should be made of tiles which are easily cleaned and most sanitary of all materials. Wood floors may be warmer to the touch but they require frequent scraping, repainting, varnishing, etc., and they develop squeaks and often provide hiding places for insects in crevices. Large red or other colored tiles are fireproof, decorative, everlasting, need no varnishing or other finishing after the first cost of installation. I think L. K. has the right idea. I have always intended to build the floors of Odd House in such a way as to permit the rugs to be taken up and a hose turned on to wash the floors at once. If tile floors seem too expensive, composition or colored cement would do well enough. If any awnings are required for Odd House they will be shutter awnings rather than canvas or other fabric, built like Venetian blinds. The blades of these may be painted to suit the color scheme of the building. The blades may be adjusted from within, to admit or exclude sunlight. Friend of mine built a new house of steel-concrete, and it is fire-proof, but not woman-proof, fire-proof, vermin-proof, earthquake-proof, but not woman-proof. Poor fellow, just before they moved in his boss put her foot down and had wood floors laid in most of the rooms, after all. I suppose housekeeping would be a dull job without the cheery song of the vacuum cleaner or the carpet sweeper and an occasional overhauling in quest of silverfish, moths, termites and other game.

Your Birthday

"GEMINI"
If June 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to 12:15 p. m.; from 2:15 to 4:15 p. m., and from 7:15 to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:15 a. m. from 5:15 to 7:15 p. m., and from 9:15 to 11:15 p. m.

Keep your mind busy this day, for idleness is liable to get you into trouble. Preconceived ideas are apt to turn out to be erroneous, so be open-minded in every way. Do not give any appearance of being deaf, dumb or blind to your own or anyone else's faults, but if it is possible admit your own and try to rectify them. It will be good judgment to avoid, if possible, arguments over money, for many quarrels will originate from this source. It will not pay to be overly critical, particularly about personal habits. While the average person's affairs may be subjected to ups and downs this day, people who were born on this date, will work under auspicious conditions with indications that their affairs are going to prosper. This is a good day to fight your own battles and let your friends and associates fight their own. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who are in love, ought to keep in mind that "nothing is given so profitably as advice," which is seldom appreciated, and is apt to be resented. If a woman and June 3 is your birthday, you most likely have been endowed with many remarkable attributes. The chances are you love to have a fuss made over you, and are ever ready to demonstrate the depth of your own affection for those you care for. You are apt to have a high regard for your own opinion, and may give evidence of a good deal of stubbornness when it is challenged. You, perhaps, seldom question anyone's sincerity but once your suspicion is aroused it is not easily allayed. You might have a poetic imagination and be given to using many metaphorical figures of speech. As an author, demonstrator, actress, lecturer, sales agent, specialty shop manager or designer you may win an enviable position in your community. You seem to have excep-

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—The harmony between AFL and CIO in the Oregon primary does not extend to Seattle, 300 miles to the north, where the two organizations fought each other to a deadlock over which should negotiate Alaskan salmon cannery wages.

In Oregon both labor organizations turned against Governor Martin to defeat his attempt to get the Democratic nomination for re-election. By voting together the two organizations held the balance of power which gave the nomination to Henry L. Hess, whom they liked better.

But in Seattle there was no peace. The National Labor Relations Board had very limited success in placating the combative labor groups in time to start them north to meet the salmon, which were already running inland from the sea.

Salmon Were Undeterred

The Alaskan salmon industry, worth several millions annually, has been tightly unionized for a number of years, but this year a dispute arose while the men were yet in Seattle as to which should dicker with the employers for wage and hour terms. The dispute continued for weeks. Long after the time the ships usually left for the Alaska fishing grounds the workmen remained deadlocked.

Recently an election was held by the NLRB to permit the cannery workers to hold on to their organization should negotiate the agreement. Reports here were that each organization lined its men up before the voting place. First one side would send in a group to vote, then the other.

Meantime the choice Alaska salmon, unaware of the delay, continued to move upstream in increasing numbers, escaping the delayed canners. The Alaskan salmon run begins late in May and reaches its peak with the elect red salmon during June. Any delay usually means a smaller catch, and reduced profits and wages.

Voting Aftermath

Just what happened at the election is in dispute, but when the voting place was closed by the NLRB official at an hour fixed in advance, the CIO had 1,560 votes and the AFL, 1,400. The NLRB official claimed that when the polls closed 400 or 500 of its men were left outside. The NLRB official said the number was only 40 or 50, not enough to change the outcome. AFL promptly challenged the fairness of the balloting and some of its members, it was reported here, threatened to picket any effort to start the canning and fishing ships northward. Two weeks after the election only a scattered few outfits had started for the salmon grounds in Alaska's famed Bristol Bay.

Oddenda!

Hundreds of desks and chairs assigned to Senators are branded "S.O.B." It means Senate office building. . . . All police on duty at the White House and Supreme Court carry pistols, but of those protecting Congress only a few are armed. A jeering crowd of policemen said the uniformed boys around the capitol were armed until they began having accidents while toying with their weapons. . . . Engraved on a brass cannon at the west entrance to the State Department is the motto of the British Order of the Garter, "Honi Soit Qui Mal y Pense"—evil to him who thinks ill. The gun was captured from the British at Stony Point in 1779.

Man Regains Memory When Big Ben Strikes

Salisbury, England.—(AP)—The sonorous chimes of Big Ben restored a man's memory here recently. There were no identification marks on the man, said H. A. Roberts, master of the Public Assistant Institution, when he wandered into Salisbury. The authorities were stumped.

Then suddenly Big Ben thundered the hour over a radio set in the same room with the man. Eyes brightened up, he jumped up and exclaimed, "my daughter," says "benny" when he hears that. A few hours later he recalled that his name was Leonard Bennett of Buxton, Derbyshire. He had been missing for a month.

BARES HIS TRICKS

London.—(AP)—A nudist magician was the hit at a nudist society's indoor party held here recently.

The guests said he made knotted handkerchiefs untie themselves, pushed a metal bar through a sheet of glass without apparently breaking the glass, and even produced cards from behind people's naked shoulders.

Helen was supreme as a nightclub queen. She owned one of the most notable speakies of the dry era, which was smashed to splinters by raiders. After that raid some-body strolled through the wreckage to where Helen had been sitting, and under it they found a broken champagne bottle, a ring and a rosary . . . stuff for a poet. . . . So, needless to say, the times, do change, although the change is so gradual as to be imperceptible. It wasn't so long ago, it seems, that everybody was talking about Larry Fay's club, and the gay crowds that gathered there after dark. But when you check up you realize that this belongs to the past, and that Larry has been dead more than four years.

Look Who's Doing All the Complaining About Hague

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Years ago they told me the story of a stranger in town who asked an Irish cop the quickest way to the nearest hospital and was told to stick his head into Hogan's saloon across the way and holler, "Down with the pope!"

I have cleaned it up a little, but this version will suffice to make the point that Frank Hague is very popular in Jersey City and that anyone who ventures to call him hard names on his own home grounds assumes certain risks.

The risks are about the same that a Hague man would face in hollering, "To hell with John L. Lewis!" at a meeting of the C.I.O., but much less grave than any dissenter would court in yelling from a soap box in Moscow that Josef Stalin was a man so foul that to mention his name was to poison the tongue. This is the phrase which representative Jerry O'Connell, of Montana, was going to use in the speech which he didn't deliver in Jersey City the time he forgot to show up.

Among those who are clamoring for their constitutional rights to denounce Hague to his own crowd are some avowed communists who advocate the adoption here of government by firing squad and many more who haven't the honesty to take membership in the communist party but hew to the party line disguised as Democrats. New Dealers are Progressives.

They include men who like to get up and shake sweat over the first ten rows at union meetings as they holler against every proposal which appears to contain a possibility of industrial peace and fair employment and chuckle when some poor, tongue-tied rank-and-filer in the corner is howled down for trying to say that he likes his job, doesn't want to strike and advocates a settlement. They come not into court with clean hands, and they hate Hague only for doing to them as they have often done to others and would do on a larger scale if they had the same power.

Hague is one of those heavy handed American local politicians who learned government in the wards and precincts and not from books, and he is disadvantaged when he tries to meet glib and slippery revolutionary intellectuals in debate.

There's truth in his statements about Reds.

Nevertheless, there is truth in his clumsy statements that the "invaders," as he calls them, are led by communists and reds of various hues who have fought and whose policy is always to fight against any proposal which might permit a peaceful solution of any labor dispute and prevent strike. Hague knows his communists and the fakes who want to enjoy the game without accepting his name, and he knows that strikes and fights around factory gates are scored as hits in their book while peaceful settlements are put down as errors.

There are many cities in the United States in which it is unsafe to rise up on the principal street and express certain sentiments. It would be unwise to say in Atlanta that Sherman ought to come that way again or in Tulsa that it is time Oklahoma had a negro governor. On the basis of election returns which give Hague a local mandate comparable to President Roosevelt's, the sentiment of Jersey City is such that denunciation of the mayor could give violent offense to many impulsive citizens. Attitude Seems Just Slightly Inconsistent

Huey Long was a much worse dictator than Hague is and should have been even more hateful to members of the save-Jersey movement, but somehow wasn't at all objectionable to them even at his worst. Any crusader for the right to speak freely would deem it imprudent to rise up at his grave in Baton Rouge and denounce him. That right is just waived.

Moreover, as to the purity of the purpose of this movement there comes to mind the conduct of the late Ku Klux Klan. This organization certainly inhibited speech in many of the centers which it held, but when the most illustrious of the late klansmen was elevated to the United States Supreme Court he was acclaimed and defended by many of those who now denounce Hague.

But Hague, according to the bill against him, has exactly the same character as Hugo Black and would seem to deserve their indorsement rather than censure.

Fined for Failing to Give Name After Crash

Howard Branchford, 1235 W. Spencer street, pleading guilty of failing to give his name and address following an accident, was fined $5 and costs by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court Tuesday afternoon. Cars driven by Branchford and Joseph Deimer, town of Greenville were involved in a minor collision at the intersection of Highways 76 and 10 last week. Branchford was going west on Highway 76 and Reimer stopped for an arterial when the collision occurred, county police said.

Defense Is Sometimes Very Simple

BY ELY CURBERTSON
Some defensive plays are so beautifully simple that, like the over-obvious letter in Poe's immortal story, they escape the eye. Consider East's absurdly simple, yet highly effective method of defeating the slam in the following hand: North, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH

♦ A K 5 4

EAST

♥ Q J 10 2

SOUTH
♠ A K Q J 10

♣ A K 7 5

The bidding:
North East South West
1 heart Pass 2 spades Pass
3 diamonds Pass 4 no trump Pass
5 no trump Pass 6 spades Pass

The partners had to exercise some restraint in stopping short of a grand slam, which indeed might have been a laydown with a favorable break of clubs. As the clubs broke, however, South had his work cut out for him, to bring home a small slam safely.

West opened the club queen. Declarer won and cashed his other club honor, with the intention of ruffing his two losers. East interrupted this proceeding, however, by ruffing in and returning a heart. Dummy won and a low spade was led to the ace. A low club was returned and safely ruffed with the nine spot. If, at this point, East had played automatically, discarding either a heart or a diamond, the contract would have been easy to fulfill. Declarer would merely draw trumps and establish the suit from which East had discarded, i. e., if East let go a heart declarer, after drawing trumps, would lead to the heart king and ruff a third round, thus ruffing away the opposing stopper. The same would apply to a diamond discard.

This particular East, a master player, saw what could happen if he were to discard from either red suit, and therefore refused to be trapped. He escaped by the unusual but simple expedient of discarding a trump! Declarer then was helpless. He never could establish a long card in either hearts or diamonds and, finally, wound up with a club loser. When declarer led the trump suit East merely followed dummy's discard.

Undoubtedly East's brilliant defensive play deserved its reward, but it is an interesting fact that if declarer had been as shrewd as East the opportunity for the under-trump play would not have arisen.

For once, I am going to be mysterious and hold out on my readers, leaving it to them to discover how declarer should have played the hand right from the start as to insure his contract against any conceivable lay of cards. If you have to give up, drop me a line. But, first, I might say that I will give a strong hint in tomorrow's column.

Old Gardener Says:

It is not desirable to feed lawns heavily in hot weather, when growth is slow. You will be wise, however, to apply water freely. Amateurs often make a mistake in this matter by thinking that a light application which merely wets the surface is sufficient. Watering in this way does more harm than good for it salts the roots to the surface in search of moisture. The proper plan is to thoroughly soak the soil to a depth of several inches so that the roots will penetrate more deeply, this being insurance against drying out in hot weather. It is advisable not to cut the grass short during the Summer. A light clipping several times a week is more desirable.

My Neighbor Says—

Right now is an excellent time to start your dahlias. In heavy soils the tuberos roots ought to be about 4 inches deep and in sandy soils down to 6 inches. Don't cover the root with more than 2 inches of soil to start with, but fill in the hole as the plant gets up. Any good garden loam will do, but it needs to be well drained.

If you put about a pint of muriatic acid (poison) in a pail of water and with a brush wash the bricks of the fireplace with this solution, you will be pleased with their appearance.

Kerosene will cut grease, clean and disinfect a sink. A little poured down the sink pipe will leave the pipe free and clean.

Special Treatment Needed For Careless School Child

Teachers are familiar with a group of children whose tested intelligence assures them they are bright, but whose careless, inattentive, disinterested attitude toward school and all that belongs there is so marked and so effective for school failures as to overshadow the brightness of the I. Q. "If she would only pay attention. If he would only concentrate. If that one would only take a little interest; and if this one would only settle down to work instead of star-gazing and day dreaming." But nothing the teacher can do, and nothing the parents can do, helps. The failing pupil with the High I. Q. rates with us.

Why doesn't this bright child succeed in school? Why cannot the teacher interest him? Or make him work? Why doesn't he remember that failure means punishment and discomfort and unhappiness generally? For the same reason that makes a fish struggle back to the water, if he is taken from it. He feels comfortable there and nowhere else. The failing child with the High I. Q., is comfortable drifting with the current of his mind. He will return to that comfortable state the minute you release him because he is uncomfortable; does not fit into the place you are trying to get him to hold.

But shouldn't he be comfortable in school, getting good marks, working happily and playing joyfully with the other children? We wish he could be, but the truth is that he cannot be. He is different for some reason or other, not disclosed by the test that set his I. Q. There is more, much more, to a child than any standard can measure. The unmeasurable part counts, and counts largely in his power to adjust himself successfully to the life that is offered him in school or anywhere else.

Nobody can teach a child to do anything and keep on doing it until the doing becomes a part of him, until the child WANTS to do it. We call that wanting to do something a Purpose. Having a purpose creates a will to accomplish the purpose, to make the wish come true. That requires work. Work continued to its required end is success. How can we induce the child with the high I. Q., to harness his intelligence to the wish and so create the purpose and the will to work?

That is the most difficult of tasks.

New Type Of Shields Pin Quickly

BY ELSIE PIERCE
Of course, every modern woman takes modern daintiness precautions, nor does she change her routine one iota with the seasons. In the spring and summer we perspire more freely than we do in the fall and winter, but on the other hand we wear short, loose sleeved thin dresses or no sleeves at all while in the other cooler months there are long-sleeved woollens and evaporation is somewhat checked.

The problem of perspiration is two-fold: first, the offensive odor itself; second its discoloration and similar ravages to garments.

I have talked with many women and learn that a surprising number like the assurance that comes with wearing shields. Many use shields with or without deodorants or non-perspirants; others use shields exclusively.

New type
There has heretofore been just one drawback to shields. They required painstaking sewing in and out to keep them fresh and immaculate. The latest innovation, however, made by a pioneer in the shield industry solves all problems. Equipped with four little pins, two for the armhole, one for the underarm seam and one for the sleeve seam, the shields can be pinned in and undone in a flash. What's more, their conical shape keeps it flat when pinned, no possibility of curling or wrinkling.

Those who know shields know that the old type circular shield had to be sewed in at least five places on each flap to afford absolute protection and avoid wrinkling. So you see what an advantage the new type has. Another point in its favor is that when the pins are attached to the seams of the dress, a larger absorptive area is possible than with the circular shield, giving every necessary protection. They come in flesh and white and they should be going into a lot of spring and summer costumes.

My bulletin "Personal Daintiness" includes several helpful suggestions. Send for it enclosing a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope. Write me in care of this paper.

Names of War Veterans Memorialized on Quilt

Burnsville, N. C.—(P)—The names and records of Yancey county's 350 World War veterans are all neatly preserved for posterity in the stitches of a quilt.

Mrs. W. B. Robertson made the memorial quilt after spending four years collecting the names. She is the wife of a doctor and with her husband's help checked even the most remote coves of the mountainous county to make sure the list was complete.

A soldier's name is stitched into each square of the quilt. After the name of one who is no longer living is a gold cross and underneath the name a symbol to show where he died.

It requires first, the services of an expert child specialist who understands the growth of children. Next, the services of the skilled psychologist who understands the peculiar workings of children's minds, as far as it is possible for anyone to understand the mystery of mind. Next, the skilled teacher who knows how to apply the information the physician and the psychologist gives her. Then the parents who accept the decisions of these experts and do their best to help carry them out. Last, and equally important, a school program that permits the teacher to give the exceptional child the treatment his situation demands. Even of these social forces essential in the training of the failing child of the high I. Q.

Some of these children are potential geniuses; some are mentally inadequate to meet school requirements, most of them are valuable to society, if they are educated. All of them should be the special charge of school and society.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers in the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Ways of Wildcats

When people want to tell what "a good fighter" some man or animal is supposed to be, they say:
"He can lick his weight in wildcats!"

A few animals may be able to do that, but a fox can't. Foxes are Canada lynx. In some sections trappers have complained because lynxes have killed off so many foxes.

are cases where the weight goes up to 40 pounds.

Hollow trees are favorite dens of wildcats, and often the den is 25 feet above the ground. From two to four young are born in each litter. Like kittens of housecats, they are blind at birth.

W. L. Dougherty has told of an amusing event during his boyhood. While going through a small woods, he heard a cat's cry, and called "Kittie, kittie, kittie" in a moment he caught sight of the animal, which was a half-grown wildcat although he did not know it. Here is the rest of the story, as he told it:
"I edged up to it, and it backed off. I started to go, and it started to come, too. . . I let it come as close as it would, then got it by the neck and held on. I had the fight of my life to keep it, but I did and carried it home."

"It tried to get out of the house, but could not, and finally went into mother's room, got under the bed, and stayed there until father came home."

"When he arrived, I told him I had a nice 'kittie' for him, and that it was under the bed. He got down and looked. As soon as he saw those eyes, he was scared. 'You've got a wildcat!' he said. It is needless to say that daddy killed it then and there."

Wildcats do not make safe pets, but in a few cases they have been tamed. Ernest Thompson Seton tells of one which, at the age of 10 months, sat in his lap and "purred like a kitten." He adds, however, that its "tooth-and-claw play" was rather rough.

Wives Should Try to Get Along With Mother-in-law

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—I married, while very young, a young man working on a small salary. When the baby came financial reasons caused us to move into his mother's home. I went resentfully, feeling myself a martyr because I had to live with my mother-in-law.

The other day she died and I have had time to think over my sins against her, so I am writing this letter in the hope that it will make some other silly young woman give her husband's mother an even break.

My mother-in-law gave up two rooms in her lovely home to us, which I took no interest in and abused. I wouldn't learn to sew or do any work. I wouldn't even put on a button. I wouldn't do any housework. I was lazy, spoiled, disrespectful, constantly finding fault with my husband and his mother, and revenged myself for my disappointment in not being able to have my own home, clothes and good times by making them as unhappy as possible.

My husband did not get advancement quickly, so I proceeded to belittle him in front of his mother and her friends and to make them think I was a poor, persecuted creature who wasn't being treated right by his mother and him. I can see now how she tried to curb my many mistakes before people because she was a new comer to the city and she wanted them to love me. Instead, I made them dislike me. I didn't realize that they had seen her come through a heart-breaking tragedy a few months before and that she was greatly respected for her courage and fineness.

She made financial sacrifices for us for which I was not grateful, but resentful because she didn't do more for me. I forced her to look on at what is probably the most heart-breaking spectacle a mother can behold, and that is a foolish, selfish woman wrecking her son's life, destroying a happy home. Helped a fine woman to an early grave, and so frustrated my husband by my complaints and nagging and dissatisfaction that he became so nervous that he was unfit to hold his job. At last he went to his sister's to be nursed back to health. Now I am neither wife nor widow and am not welcome in any of my relatives' homes. I see my folly and repent my sin, but all too late. Perhaps my story may be a warning to some other young wife who is mistreating her mother-in-law.

BETTY.

I print this little chapter from real life because it pictures more vividly and poignantly than I can the tragedy that a foolish girl can create if she goes into a family with the fixed idea that her mother-in-law is her enemy and that she is bound to defend herself against her.

I have said in this column time and again that for a mother-in-law and daughter-in-law to try to live together in the same house almost invariably spells misery for all concerned. Sometimes, however, this is unavoidable, and when it does happen it is a shame and a pity that the daughter-in-law has not sense enough to see that it is just as hard on the mother-in-law as it is on her, and try to meet the older woman halfway and make it as easy on her as she can.

Very often a young couple could not marry except that they "take up their residence" with the bridegroom's mother, as the newspaper account of the wedding says. Times innumerable it is the man's mother who takes her son, his wife and their children in and shelter and feeds and clothes them when the man loses his job and they would be put out on the street but for her. You would think that under such circumstances that the daughter-in-law could not be grateful enough to her mother-in-law, nor do enough to please her. But often that not she takes out her chagrin at her misfortunes on the older woman and makes her burden that much heavier.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My father died when I was a small child, leaving my mother with two children. Not being able to support both of us, she sent me to my aunt and uncle, with whom I have lived happily for the last fifteen years. My mother never showed me any affection or did anything for me during all the time I was growing up, but now she wants me to come and live with her. I refused. I hardly know her and can't talk frankly to her. I am nervous and unhappy with her. Her friends are strangers to me and mine to her. Besides, twelve years ago my aunt died, and since then I have been keeping house for my uncle, who has been a father to me and done everything for me. Should I leave him and go to my mother?

DOROTHY.

Answer:
I think not. I think your duty is to the kind uncle who has not only supported you all these years but

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

IMPORTANT TABLE RULE
Dear Mrs. Post: An Englishman visiting me argued that in England the proper procedure is to take the fork in the left hand and push the meat on to the fork with the knife and then in eating spinach and potatoes, for instance, one may pile the potatoes on the back of the fork, then the spinach on top of that. Please tell me if there was ever a rule of etiquette in England that permits the piling of one's food on the fork with the knife in this unpleasant sounding manner.

Answer: It has always been considered correct in cosmopolitan society to leave the piece of meat on the fork exactly as it is held when cut off, and then to put a little condiment or very small amount of something on the meat and eat it. But it is not proper to pile food all the way up the shank of the fork. I have an idea that our strange custom, of never lifting the fork held in the left hand to the mouth, may have had its origin as a protest against the piling up of food against the back of the fork in the way you describe. And yet zigzagging the fork back and forth from hand to hand with every mouthful gives an effect of stuttering and belongs in the category with shaking hands 'way over your head, and paying attention to which side of the chair you approach when you sit down, and breaking bread into quarter-inch squares before you butter it, and other manners which are mincing affectations.

Dear Mrs. Post: How should meat sauces, that is, the kind that come in bottles or jars, be served at table?

Answer: Ordinary commercial bottles should not be served at a perfectly appointed table. Sauces and relishes should be put into glass cruets or mustard pots and passed on a tray (or the tray put on the table).

A Non-Meat Wedding Reception Menu
Dear Mrs. Post: I am marrying a Catholic and naturally his relatives at the wedding and many of his friends will be of that faith. We are being married on a Friday, which is as you know a Catholic "fish day." Mother hopes you will be good enough to suggest a menu for a breakfast with this fact in mind.

Answer: You might begin with either melon or fruit cocktail or an egg dish, and then lobster newburg. Or perhaps the ubiquitous croquettes with peas (the croquettes made of halibut instead of chicken), then a vegetable salad and then ice cream.

What About Candles on a Tea Table?
Dear Mrs. Post: I went to a lovely tea party lately. The table was beautiful and included lovely old candelabra but the candles were not lighted. I was told that it was wrong to have lighted candles on a tea table. As I want to give a big tea soon and have always liked burning candles on the table, I would like to know about this beforehand.

Answer: Candles on a formal tea table set in the dining room have always been considered proper after five o'clock, just as candles are always proper on a dining table. And yet, there is something rather absurd about lighting candles in bright sunlight. On the other hand, if you partly draw the shades or curtains, or half close the Venetian blinds, then you could perfectly well light them.

California Growing Biggest Kids, Too

Sacramento, Calif.—(P)—California is growing larger children than any other state.

The state department of public health came to this conclusion after recording the heights and weights of 50,000 children born in California and 25,000 born outside the state.

Dr. Orren Lloyd Jones of Los Angeles, who was in charge of the study, said:
"We are able to state that the average height of children of a given age born elsewhere than California is invariably less than the average height of California native born children."

"There is a definite correlation between length of body and length of stay in California."

V.F.W. Committee Maps Water Carnival Plans

Kaukauna — The executive committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in charge of the water carnival here June 11 and 12 met last night at Riverside park to survey the erection of facilities for the event. Electrical connections must be made and a pier built into the Fox river for the racers. Concession allotments also must be made.

Members of the committee are Max Streich, Clifford Mereness, Louis Wilpolt, Arthur Kromer, Ed Steidl, Matt Verfurth, George Egan, Irvin Lopus, John Vandenberg, Ed

Ives, Charles Clune, Joseph Wheaton and Henry Adams.

Entries are being received daily from the country's outstanding drivers. George Kuehn of Indianapolis, who won three races in the St. Joseph, Ind., annual regatta May 23, will race here. Paul Wearer of Muncie, who set a new record at the St. Joseph event, will also be here. All former state champions will compete, the Wisconsin Boating association has announced.

Girl to Compete
One girl has entered the races, Dorothy Larson, Rockford, Ill., a steadily improving racer for two years who will be in the thick of this year's contests. Curtie Smith, Neenah, is the youngest and lightest race driver in the country, 17 years old and weighing 100 pounds. He drives a Midget class motor. As he and his boat together must weigh, according to rules, 200 pounds, and they weigh only 170, he must drag in a lot of window sash to make up the difference.

One of the drivers to watch will be Eddie Pabst, who for years was grease monkey to George Kuehn. Three years ago he decided to get an outfit of his own, bought a Class M motor and became state champion in that class in his first attempt. He now has a Midget and a Class A motor and holds state championships in these divisions, in addition to the national championship in Class M.

Officials for the regatta were announced yesterday. They are J. A. Mahoney, starter; George H. Boyer, referee; Paul Stevens, clock man; Harold Murphy, cannon; Fred Mikkelsen, timer; Mrs. G. H. Boyer, clerk of the course; Tim Flarity, rescue.

Ray Diederich, who suffered his first defeat against Oshkosh after victories over Little Chute and Neenah, will be on the mound Sunday, with George Bloch behind the bat.

The Brewers are leading the league in batting with a team average of .324, compiled 51 hits in 157 times at bat. They amassed 16 hits, their largest total this season, in the Memorial day game at Grand Chute.

Gib Busse is leading the individual regulars with eight hits in 17 turns at the plate.

Ray Schmalz Seated As Eagles President
Kaukauna—Ray Schmalz was installed as president of Kaukauna Eagles and Al Hartzheim took office as secretary at a meeting last night. Other officers installed were Lloyd Romanesko, chaplain; Jack Rink, treasurer; T. L. Seggelink, conductor; Walter Hartzheim, trustee; Anton Smith, inside guard, and Joseph Nushardt, outside guard.

Delegates were elected to the state convention at Fond du Lac June 23 to 24. They are Jacob Licht, Ray Schmalz, Al Hartzheim, Jake Rink and Ed Geske.

Jewish Feast of Shovuos Begins Saturday Evening

JEWISH synagogues will be decked with greenery and flowers and the Ten Commandments will be read in the services for Shovuos, the Feast of Weeks, or Pentecost, which will be observed by Jewish people beginning Saturday evening. The feast is celebrated for two days by Orthodox Jews and for one day by Liberal Jews.

The greenery represents the spring harvest festival character of the Feast of Weeks, while the reading of the Decalogue is in recognition of the fact that Shovuos is the season traditionally associated with the giving of the Torah, or "Teaching" on Mount Sinai.

Rabbi Raloh De Koven, spiritual leader of Moses Montefiore congregation, will preach at services at his synagogue at 7:30 Saturday night, 9 o'clock Sunday morning and 7:30 Sunday evening and at 9 o'clock Monday morning and at 7:30 in the evening, the closing service. There will be a memorial service at 10:30 Monday morning.

Both Israel temple will have services about 6 o'clock Saturday night, again at 9 o'clock Sunday morning and at 6 o'clock Sunday evening, and at 9 o'clock Monday morning and 6 in the evening. Members of the congregation will conduct the services in the absence of the rabbi, Milton Dalin. There will be no services in Temple Zion, the Reformed congregation in Appleton.

7 Weeks After Passover Shovuos, which literally means "weeks," takes its name from the fact that it is celebrated seven weeks after Passover. Greek-speaking Jews more than two thousand years ago gave the holiday the name "Pentecost," because of the fifty days counted from the second evening of Passover to the Shovuos festival.

This holiday is one of the "three pilgrim festivals" of the Bible. In ancient times, the Jews at this season brought their offerings of first-fruits and of grain to the Temple in Jerusalem. The agricultural significance of the holiday is also seen in the reading of the Book of Ruth, with its idyllic scenes of husbandry and harvesting, in the synagogue on Shovuos. The Book of Ruth is notable for the universalistic message in its story of the non-Jewish who became the ancestress of the beloved figure of King David.

When the Reform Synagogue introduced the rite of confirmation for Jewish youth, Pentecost, by virtue of its traditional association with the ancient revelation, was the day selected. Through an impressive public ceremony, young boys and girls having been taught the meaning of the Jewish faith and the duty of leading a religious and moral life, confirm this faith.

Raps 'Lobby' and Commerce Body for Rejection of Project
Washington (U.P.)—Representative Johnson (R.-Minn.) blamed what he called the "non-cooperative" attitude of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association and "the railroad lobby" yesterday for rejection of the proposed Minneapolis harbor project by house-senate conferees on the civil functions bill.

Senator Shipstead (R.-Minn.) attributed to railroad opposition disapproval of extension of the nine foot channel in the Mississippi river beyond St. Anthony Falls. This would permit establishment of the Minneapolis harbor.

The house bill eliminated this project but the senate boosted the appropriation for the Mississippi project from about $5,000,000 to about $11,000,000 and eliminated the restrictive clause forbidding improvement above the falls.

House and senate conferees, however, agreed to accept the house version, virtually killing the harbor proposal for at least another year.

Harrison Is Favored to Head Campaign Committee
Washington (U.P.)—Several senate Democrats up for reelection are working quietly to put Senator Pat Harrison (D.-Miss.) at the head of the party's senate campaign committee.

Harrison's selection for the chairmanship, these senators said today, would do much to promote party harmony for the November elections.

The tall, soft-spoken Mississippi plan is generally popular with both administration supporters and opponents. He has differed with President Roosevelt on some issues, however, and recently criticized the president's views on the 1938 revenue bill.

Senator Barkley (D.-Ky.) the majority leader, said he would appoint the committee before the session ends and would poll senators who are running this year before selecting the chairman.

Defeated Harrison
Barkley defeated Harrison for the senate leadership last year by a single vote.

Senator Clark (D.-Mo.), who has fought some major administration legislation, asserted that Harrison would be "a fine chairman on whom everybody could agree."

Senator Pepper (D.-Fla.) who recently won renomination on a New Deal platform, said he would be "highly satisfactory to me."

Senators O'Mahoney (D.-Wyo.) and Byrnes (D.-S. C.) also have been mentioned for the chairmanship.

While senators awaited appointment of the campaign committee, a bi-partisan group prepared to investigate senate campaign expenditures of both parties.

Headed by Senator Shepard (D.-Texas) this latter committee was appointed yesterday by Vice President Garner. Other members are Senators White (R.-Me.), Brown (D.-Mich.) and O'Mahoney. Senator Norris (Ind.-Neb.) declined a proffered appointment, and Garner will appoint a new member soon.

Building of School Brings Up Bicycle Safety Problem

The problem of bicycle traffic has been brought to the foreground in the city street safety program with the construction of the new senior high school.

At the present time there are but two streets running east and west on the north side of the river that are arterial streets, College and Wisconsin avenue. Deeming it inadvisable to have cyclists traveling these two heavy traffic lanes, Chief of Police George T. Prim and Sergeant Carl Radtke of the traffic division have suggested a plan which is now under consideration by the council traffic committee.

The proposal is to make Winnebago street an arterial street and to ask motorists to refrain as much as possible from using it. Winnebago street leads directly to the rear of the new senior high school where the school bicycle parking lot will be maintained. The street is centrally located on the north side of the city and may be easily reached from all sections, Chief Prim points out. A speed limit of 15 miles an hour could be placed on the street to further assure the safety of bicyclists.

Fourth ward youths using bicycles to and from school could use Seymour street, Memorial drive to Badger avenue, Badger avenue to Mason street, and Mason to the school parking lot. This would eliminate the danger of crossing the flats on Oneida street, Chief Prim explained.

Because of the large number of bicycles in the city, this phase of the traffic safety problem must not be neglected, Chief Prim said.

Month of May Average
Is 56.9 Degrees; Rain
Measures 2.10 Inches
The month of May, rather erratic in her moods, turned in an average temperature of 56.9 degrees, slightly cooler than the figure a year ago, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant. The average for May of 1937 was 57.7.

Residents of Appleton who fumed at last month's dark skies and rain might be surprised to know that the actual rainfall was less than a year ago, measuring 2.10 inches to 2.49 inches in May of 1937.

The highest may last month was recorded on the third day when the mercury reached 84 degrees. The coldest reading was taken on the morning of the eleventh day when a snappy, frosty spell drove the mercury down to 32. There were seven clear days last month, 20 partly cloudy, and four definitely dark.

It's Odd
But It's Science
BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor
Dallas—Flames like moths. This new fact about the well known "moth and flame" attraction, in which it is the moths that like the flames, was discovered in the new potash industry in New Mexico.

It was reported to the American Chemical Society here by T. M. Cramer, of Carlsbad, N. M. He said a new potash plant near there was pestered with moths. Every morning 40 to 50 pounds of them had to be swept out of the building.

There was nothing in the scientific records about how to get rid of this nuisance. The potash engineers invented a method.

Presbyterians Hope
For Early End of Warfare in Orient
Philadelphia (U.P.)—Commissioners to the 150th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. carried home to all parts of the nation today a pledge to work and pray "for the speedy establishment of peace between China and Japan."

Termining the war "ruthless and barbarous," the committee on foreign missions, in a report presented at the final session yesterday, appealed for a "just peace, based on righteousness and brotherhood," and declared:

"We view with horror the needless destruction of lives and property of innocent non-combatants in many parts of China, most recently evidenced by the bombings of civilians in Canton."

The report was accompanied by a plea from Mrs. Vincent L. Shipley, Philadelphia, chairman of the board of foreign missions, to halt shipments of scrap iron to China.

The general assembly, which commemorated the holding of the first assembly in Philadelphia, was in session since last Thursday.

Next year it will meet at Cleveland, May 25.

See Opposition To 'Store Bottle' Plan at Hearing

Dealers to Propose Cream Price Reduction in Appleton Area

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — The department of agriculture and markets will send representatives to Appleton on June 10 to take testimony at a hearing in the courthouse on a proposed revision of the order regulating the Appleton and Neenah - Menasha fluid milk markets. It was announced here today.

L. G. Kuening of the department, marketing specialist in charge of the state's milk price control program, and Fred M. Wyke, agricultural department counsel, will preside at the hearing, at which dealers will propose a reduction in the retail price of cream and a corresponding reduction in the price paid to the producers, and a system known as the "store bottle" plan.

The retail price of cream in the Appleton-Twin City regulated market is now 13 cents a half-pint. Kuening said, while the producer is being paid 58 cents per pound of butterfat.

See Opposition The "store bottle" plan entails a system of deposits for the milk bottles sold at retail outlets, and has so far been introduced only in the Milwaukee metropolitan market. It is similar to the plan practiced by some beverage distributors. The stockholder deposits five cents for each bottle delivered by the dealer, and in turn collects an equal deposit from the customer. Opposition from the retailers to such a proposal from the dealers will develop at the Appleton hearing, the department has learned.

The question of retail milk prices will not be considered at the Appleton hearing, according to preliminary information obtained by Kuening.

Milk price hearings were held during the last two weeks in the Madison and Milwaukee markets, in both of which producers proposed a reduction in retail prices and in the payments to farmers. Both propositions were turned down by the department on the ground that there was no definite consumer demand for retail price reductions.

The attitude of the state department of agriculture on the question of regulated milk control was told in a bulletin this week by Kuening, who maintained that the farmer, dealer, and consumer all lose when unreasonably cheap milk is placed on the market.

Department's Aim The department's aim, he said, in the regulated markets is to keep the price of fluid milk in line with production and distribution costs. "No consumer should be interested in extremely low priced milk," he continued, "for the reason that high quality, clean, safe milk cannot be marketed at prices that do not bring the farmer a reasonable price for his product and the distributor a reasonable profit."

"Many people do not understand that milk is sold on the basis of its butterfat content and that milk testing higher in butterfat should bring a higher price," he said.

Explaining the various price brackets for fluid milk, Kuening said that regular milk of 3 to 3.8 per cent butterfat test is the lowest priced variety on a regulated market. Milk testing from 3.9 to 4.4 per cent sells for 1 cent a quart more than the first bracket, and anything over 4.4 per cent sells for 2 cents more.

Special varieties, such as those containing Vitamin D bring an additional 1 cent more than the regular test milk he pointed out.

Sunshine, Blue Skies Will Remain Tomorrow: 76 Here Today

The weatherman goes out on the limb today and without even protecting himself with a "probably" predicts fair and warmer for tomorrow in Appleton and vicinity.

It was fair and warmer here today, for fluffy clouds moved across a blue sky. The sun was ardent, and a soft breeze that sometimes reached the strength of a wind was blowing. At 12:30 this afternoon the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent registered 76 degrees.

For the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest mark in the city was 73 and the lowest, 55, according to charts at the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. During the period, rainfall measured .22 of an inch.

Phoenix, Ariz., which has kept its maximum 24-hour temperature above the 100 mark right along this spring since again yesterday and took hot weather honors in the nation with a 106, Cheyenne, Wyo., reported a low of 42, coldest of them all.

Private Utilities To Have Chance to Sell Their Plants

To increase domestic consumption of surplus farm products. The purpose would be to strengthen farm prices and supply food to needy families.

Morgan's statement at his press conference was in line with a letter the president sent to Senator Adams (D-Colo.) yesterday suggesting that no restrictions be put on funds provided in the spending, lending bill, now before the senate, which would prevent starting the maximum number of works projects without delay.

Subsequently the senate wrote into the bill a provision that a chief executive might use up to $125,000,000 of the proposed WPA appropriation for direct relief. Pointing out that he considered the need for flexibility in administration of relief, Morgan said he "would go even farther than that" and give the president unlimited discretion.

Swimming School Relieves Parents of Responsibility

Father wants to use all available summer hours on the golf course. Mother must entertain visitors now and then in the afternoons and always see to it that dinner is ready, and Big Brother and Big Sister are too busy with their friends to bother—so Little Brother and Little Sister have one heck of a time trying to find someone to teach them how to swim.

But Little Brother and Little Sister will have someone who is ready and willing and competent to teach them and at no cost whatever when the Appleton Post-Crescent and Y. M. C. A. jointly sponsor the annual "learn to swim" school for Appleton youngsters June 6-25.

Entry blanks, filled out in the tense, eager hand writing of children, are coming in rapidly to both the "Y" and the newspaper office. It is expected that about 1,000 youngsters from nine to 17 years of age will attend the classes, splashing happily around the pool in absolute safety, running home to tell the folks about it, and crowing when the time comes that they can paddle "without touchin' bottom."

It is requested that blanks be sent in as soon as possible, for very soon, this week yet, the names of all those children who have enrolled will be published. Four expert instructors, two for the boys and two for the girls, have been hired. Last year a total of 711 children went to the classes. Of this number, 340 of them successfully passed their 60-foot swimming tests.

Man, Who Sees Virtue Of Politeness, Fined For Being Disorderly

Irving Rusch, 18, 721 Pearl street, Menasha, wants to be treated with politeness even though he might be using profane language himself.

Rusch was charged with disorderly conduct by police who arrested him at the circus show grounds last night. In municipal court of Judge Thomas H. Ryan this morning Rusch pleaded not guilty to the charge but admitted using profane language. He said police were not polite when they arrested him.

Judge Ryan found Rusch guilty and fined him $10 and costs with an alternative of 20 days in the county detention camp.

Leslie Douglas, 38, Oshkosh, who was arrested with Rusch, pleaded guilty of drunkenness and was sentenced to the detention camp for 30 days.

Burial was in Fort Howard cemetery.

Born at Waterloo, Ontario, Canada, Woods lived at Green Bay before coming to Appleton 13 years ago.

Survivors are a son, Ben F. Woods, Green Bay; a daughter, Mrs. Earl Goddard, Green Bay; one brother, Charles, Ontario; four grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

SEMON FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Simon, 65, 315 S. Lawe street, will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning at the residence and at 10 o'clock at First Fundamental church, Neenah, with the Rev. W. G. Wittenborn in charge. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery at Neenah.

The farm program discussed at a White House conference this week would have a two-fold objective:

1. To supplement efforts of the agriculture department, through the new crop control law, to bolster declining prices of farm commodities.
2. To provide undernourished and underclothed relief and now income families with larger supplies of food and cotton products.

The proposal, if adopted, probably would expand activities of the federal surplus commodities corporation, which has been buying surplus perishable farm commodities to bolster prices.

Distributed to Needy Its purchases, which have been small compared to those contemplated under the new program, are distributed to needy families through relief agencies.

Agriculture department officials said purchases would be made through regular trade channels, thus releasing funds more quickly to stimulate business.

This plan, officials said, was one of the reasons why President Roosevelt asked the senate yesterday to impose "no restriction" to administration of relief funds provided in the $3,247,000,000 spending-lending bill.

Hoover in Charge Of Investigation In Kidnaping Case

The discovery to anyone else in order to receive the payment.

A $500 reward for the capture and conviction of the kidnaper was posted by the Palm Beach town council and the Dade (Miami) county commission offered $1,000 reward for apprehension of the snatcher on conditions still to be specified by the F. B. I.

The augmented searching force took the field at dawn, concentrating areas north of the Cash home, the country southward having been combed yesterday.

Nine police radio cars from Miami cruised back roads, picking up instructions broadcast from headquarters established in a vegetable warehouse here and relaying them to posess.

The federal men centered efforts on tracking down the abductors, who accepted a $10,000 ransom payment without returning the victim.

Several Arrests

In their custody were several persons—no outsider knew exactly how many—and a number of funds regarded as clues. But if the government's "kidnap squad" already knew who took young Cash from his bedroom last Saturday night it was a closely-guarded secret.

Sam Bennett of Fort Pierce, district American Legion commander, announced 1000 legionnaires would join the spreading hunt today, augmenting the hundreds of armed men who yesterday beat over palmetto groves and truck lands.

An indication of what the F. B. I. men think the searchers might find was contained in final instructions of E. J. Connelly, head of the justice department forces, to the posess.

"We must face the strong possibility this little boy will be found dead," Connelly told the posseholders. "If you see signs of freshly disturbed dirt—dig. Take your time and dig deeply. Look well in every canal you pass and in every clump of bushes. Overlook nothing."

Dexter Wolfe, Kay Rogers Are Given Top Honors at Appleton High School

The highest honor accorded students of Appleton High school, the craftsmanship shield, this morning was presented to Dexter Wolfe, 414 N. Union street, and Kay Rogers, 911 E. North street, by H. H. Helble, high school principal.

The occasion was annual awards day when outstanding students are given some kind of material reward to show appreciation for their leadership and service during their high school years. The auditorium was packed to the doors with enthusiastic pupils meeting for their last assembly in the old high school building.

Before presenting any awards, Mr. Helble lauded students who were to receive them as being of the 2 per cent who lead during high school life as well as in later years. He said that small group of persons, like those who were to receive awards, ran the country from the top down to local activities.

The craftsmanship shield usually is awarded to one student but this year the combined vote of the faculty indicated no choice between the two seniors, so officials decided to award two shields. Both boys have maintained excellent scholastic records during their high school careers and were exceptionally active in extra-curricular work.

Postpone Action On Resolution to Replace Black Top

sides argued that their petition had more front footage than the opponents'. It was an argument that could not be settled by any known method so Alderman Steinhauser moved that the petitions be placed on file and the bids opened, which was done with Alderman Thompson voting against opening proposals.

Aldermen came in for their share of argument when Alderman Bratigan disagreed with an assessment of 50 cents per foot for sanitary sewers on Harrison street from Carpenter street to Harmon street in the Fourth ward. He moved that property owners be charged only for the cost of materials because the sewer is being installed with relief labor.

Alderman Vanderheyden said the assessment already had been cut from 75 cents to 50 cents and that he thought that was fair enough. "We make other property owners in the city pay for their sewers, why shouldn't they pay for them in the Fourth ward?" he asked.

Argue About Sewer
Alderman Knutti, Fourth ward, said: "I'd just as soon see you stop work on the sewer right now and give the relief men money without working; no one asked for the sewer in the first place."

While he was not opposing the aldermen from the Fourth ward, Alderman Thompson thought the question should be settled to determine future policy. He said: "We started using relief labor with the idea that the city would get the benefit. Now we are going to use the men for the benefit of the city at large or for the benefit of a few property owners on a few streets?"

The decision was left up in the air when a motion to refer the whole thing back to the board of public works for re-assessment was passed.

An ordinance regulating building construction in Appleton was unanimously adopted. Alderman Harrison pointed out that the ordinance could not be enforced without a full-time inspector and Mayor Goodland said he would call a meeting soon to consider separating the office of city engineer building inspector and street commissioner.

Award Contracts
The Balliet Supply company, Appleton, was awarded the contract to furnish two or three carloads of chlorine for the sewage treatment plant at $2.62 per hundred pounds. The vote was unanimous.

Alderman unanimously voted to buy a Coolerator with 134 cubic feet of storage space from the Lutz Ice company for $194.85. The ice box will be used at the city home. The bid of the Kaukauna Quarry company to furnish crushed stone was accepted. The stone will cost $1.50 per cubic yard delivered at the city garage when needed.

Two dozen drain spades at a total of $43 and four dozen shovels at a total of $87 were purchased from the Appleton Hardware company and the low bid of Alvin W. Mueller, Appleton, for a carload of cement was accepted and the city clerk was instructed to order one carload. The cement is to be delivered in paper bags at $2.40 per barrel.

Grant Licenses
Applications for two picnic licenses, one for the Employers Mutual Benefit association and the other for the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce, were granted. Operator's licenses were granted to Albert Stip, 608 N. Superior street, and to Russell Pankrat, 914 W. Harris street.

An application, filed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, to change the date for the Hennes Brothers shows from June 13 to 18 to July 11 to 17 was granted.

The following sidewalks were ordered built: on the east side of Covaisa street at No. 1118; on the south side of Grant street from No. 609 to Union street; on the east side of Union street from Grant street south to Roosevelt street; on the south side of Eighth street from Douglas street to Outagamie street where not now in place; and on the south side of Fifth street from Walnut street to State street where not now in place.

The council voted to build curb and gutter on N. Appleton street from Wisconsin avenue north to Parkway boulevard as part of a proposed city-wide WPA project. Oiling of the following streets was authorized: Pierce court, Pine street from Prospect avenue west; and Victoria street from Spencer street one block south.

Lack of Funds Is Cause of Delay on Bridge Proposal

Neenah Mayor Tells Council Project Is Still 'Alive'

Neenah — Indications are that lack of funds is curtailing action, whether favorable or otherwise, on the proposed second bridge across the Fox river, Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs reported at the council meeting Wednesday night at the city hall.

The mayor told the aldermen that in recent unofficial conversation with members of the state highway commission one of them said, "Well, we haven't acted upon the project yet, and we haven't turned it down, so you can still maintain hope for a favorable action."

The commissioners said that the reason no action has been taken is that there aren't funds available and that if action were taken now it would have to be unfavorable, Mayor Kalfahs reported. The commissioners also said that if favorable action were taken, work on the project would begin immediately.

A hearing in which the city presented its case for a second bridge over the Fox river was conducted by the commission last winter.

No Definite Answer

The commissioners also assured the mayor that the project was "alive." Mayor Kalfahs said, and that as soon as funds were available action would be taken. The mayor said, however, that the commissioners would not commit themselves as to whether the project would be approved.

Neenah is seeking state and county financial aid to construct the bridge, the city to assume one-third of the cost, the county, one-third, and the state, one-third.

Alderman Richard O'Brien, chairman of the celebrations committee, reported that the committee would enter into a contract with the United States Fireworks company, Beloit, to purchase $500 worth of fireworks for the Fourth of July celebration. The report was approved. The city also has appropriated $200 to the American Legion for purchasing ice cream and candy for children.

Appointment Approved

The council approved the appointment of Alderman James Andersen to serve on the Neenah-Menasha relief group to succeed Henry Jung. Mr. Jung turned in his resignation, explaining that he already is serving on the board of education and Neenah Waterworks commission.

An appropriation of $100 was added to the city's share of the cost of the summer recreation program when Alderman Emil Harder reported that an assistant is needed for Mrs. Carl Oberreich who is in charge of the girls' recreation program. Alderman Harder is the council representative on the athletic committee. The city already had appropriated $600 as its share of the cost of the program. The Neenah chapter, American Red Cross, furnishes the rest of the money.

Alderman Harder, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the city incurred 171 bills amounting to $23,245.90 during May. The larger bills were for a concrete mixer, $350; carload of cement, $418.50; engineer's car, $694.50; two cars of sewer pipe, $402.89; relief, $989.96; street lighting, $1,246.21; principle and interest on sewer bonds, $12,643.75.

Suggests Improvement

Upon the suggestion of Alderman John Heigl, the council instructed A. G. Trunuske, city engineer, to investigate the feasibility of constructing an abutment onto the curbs on the south side of W. Wisconsin avenue from Commercial street to Main street. Alderman Heigl pointed out that the curb is too high from the street and that when automobiles park into the curb, the bumpers scrape over the top of the sidewalk. The alderman suggested that the abutment be 10 inches high and 16 inches thick.

The street committee was instructed to meet with officials of the Presbyterian church to determine a solution for eliminating the traffic hazard on Brown street, a 1-way thoroughfare which is directly behind the church. Automobiles going into the street drive over the sidewalk, endangering pedestrians, it was pointed out. Several suggestions were made, including reversing the direction of traffic and erecting of posts, but the council decided not to take action until church officials were contacted.

Alderman Walter Buschey reported that he contacted property owners on W. North Water street, and that they promised to cooperate with the city to prevent congestion by not parking their cars on the street. The council decided that a cross walk would be made across E. Wisconsin avenue in front of the Embassy theatre provided it didn't conflict with state traffic regulations. City Attorney John W. O'Leary was instructed to check on the matter and Martin Wacholz, street commissioner, was instructed to have lines for the crosswalk painted if permissible.

The council also granted the erection of a street light on the corner of Lorraine and Winneconne avenues.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Loyalists Balk Rebel Advances

Government Counter-Offensive Recapture Lost Territory in Spain

Hendaye, France, At the Spanish Front—(AP)—The insurgent power drive against the Teruel-Valencia highway appears to be stalling again before increasing government resistance.

In many sectors of the mountainous front, which guards the highway to the Mediterranean coast, government counter-offensive in the last two days have recaptured territory lost to Spanish Generalissimo Franco's warriors.

Heaviest fighting centered in a 10-mile zone from insurgent-held Puebla de Valverde on the highway itself toward Mora de Rubielos.

Government advisers said their militiamen captured Cencerossos el Coso, just outside Valbona.

Much of the government resistance was attributed to its revised air corps, which again is disputing mastery of the air with Franco's warplanes.

Barcelona pilots prevented large-scale bombardments of government positions, and in one combat, government dispatches said, 12 insurgent planes were shot down.

Franco visited the Teruel front yesterday for a staff conference with his generals.

12 Persons Found Guilty of Drug Plot In Federal Court

New York —(AP)—A federal district court jury, after deliberating 15 hours, today convicted 12 persons of a narcotics conspiracy claimed by the government to have operated in Texas, Louisiana and New York city. Three persons were acquitted.

Those convicted, each facing a possible two year sentence, were: Alphonso and Josephine Attardi of Galveston, Texas; Charles Casasa of Brooklyn; Vincent Gentilmo of New York; Jerry Feraci of New Orleans; Mike Sgitcovich of Galveston; Augustine Simoncini of Galveston; Jerry Bruno of New York; Louis Liguoro, address unknown; Colagorio Iacono of New York; and Ralph Liguoro, who is in Dannemora prison. Mercy was recommended for Mrs. Attardi.

Acquitted were Don Alphonso of New York, Joe Macey of Houston, Texas, and Leo Attanasio of Galveston.

Sentences of two years in prison and fines of $5,000 each were imposed against Attardi, Casasa, Bruno and Gentilmo. DiMaggio was sentenced to 18 months and Simoncini and Sgitcovich each to two years.

The court adjourned sentencing of the remaining defendants until June 13.

27 employees and officials involved in the action upon which nolo contendere pleas were made.

Indictments pending against Edward Karstedt and E. W. Sinclair in connection with a price-fixing conspiracy charge also were dismissed on government motion.

Thinks Action Is Fair

The dismissals cleared the record in the marketing conspiracy indictment with the exception of the eight companies and eight individuals who will be brought to trial this fall.

Judge Stone, addressing company counsel and the individuals who were pleading nolo contendere, declared he believed the government's recommendation that the pleas be accepted was fair and in the public interest. He took notice, particularly, of negotiations between the attorney general's department and the defendants.

"In the usual criminal case, where criminal intent is the chief element," he said, "such negotiations may be, and perhaps on occasion have been, improper. They cannot, in any event, conclude the court."

"This case, however, lies in a field where the government might, with equal propriety, have proceeded initially by a civil action in equity or, as here, by a criminal prosecution, either being an action to enforce penalties for the violation of a statute."

"The court is of the opinion that the wrong here complained of is not malum in se, but rather malum prohibitum, one peculiarly of an economic nature and one in which the attainment of a proper understanding between the parties is of itself a desirable end."

By pleading nolo contendere the defendants, in effect, agreed to accept penalties without contending further on the question of their guilt.

The motion to withdraw pleas of innocence was made by Colonel William Donovan, New York, chief of defense counsel. After Judge Stone granted the motion, accepted the new pleas, and imposed fines, assistant United States Attorney General Hammond Chaffee moved dismissal of charges against the 29 other defendants and the brief court proceedings ended.

Committee Wants Outline of Pay-Hour Bill Advocated by Chief Executive

Washington —(AP)—An outline of the exact wage-hour bill President Roosevelt desires would be welcomed by the committee appointed to draft compromise legislation, four senate members said today.

Disclaiming knowledge of any intention on the part of Mr. Roosevelt to make a public statement, Senator Thomas (D-Utah) said he thought the committee would not resent such an expression.

When the president recently outlined his views on the tax revision bill in a letter to the conferees, some criticism was voiced privately, but Thomas commented:

"I think the president has a perfect right to express his views, for he is legitimately interested in seeing that satisfactory legislation is passed."

Agree With Thomas

Senators Murray (D-Mont.), Ellender (D-La.) and Pepper (D-Ft.) agreed with Thomas that a statement from the president would be helpful, although Pepper said he thought the chief executive might be reluctant to outline his views unless a deadlock develops.

Mr. Roosevelt in public statements has indicated a preference for a wage differential. This is one of the chief issues before the conferees, for the house bill would create a nationally uniform standard of wages and hours while the senate bill would permit a board to grant exemptions.

Senator Thomas called the committee for its first session late this afternoon.

Southerners fighting a nationally uniform wage scale were cheered yesterday by senate adoption of an amendment to the relief bill providing that, if a wage-hour bill finally is enacted, its "floor" for wages would become the minimum wage of WPA workers in communities where the prevailing wage is higher than the bill establishes would be exempt.

Wages Vary

WPA workers now receive the minimum wage prevailing in their locality, just as the Walsh-Healey act makes similar provision for workers on government contracts.

Metcalfe Walling of the labor department, who administers the Walsh-Healey act, said in an interview that southern wages and low wages are not necessarily synonymous.

Pay often varies more among different sections of a state than among different parts of the nation, he said. One hoisery firm in Georgia pays its employees an average of 48.1 cents an hour; another hoisery firm in the same state pays an average of 21.3 cents. Wages of hoisery workers in New York state vary from 24.4 cents per hour to 49.7 cents.

The lowest wage so far accepted under the Walsh-Healey act is 32.5 cents an hour in men's underwear factories in the south. In the north this wage was settled at 35 cents.

that Mrs. Cummings drew as they walked in the ravine, Mrs. Barker testified.

Woman Convicted Of Manslaughter

Mrs. Julia Barker Faces Maximum Penalty of 15 Years in Prison

Detroit —(AP)—A jury of eight women and four men convicted Mrs. Julia M. Barker, once wealthy Detroit real estate operator, of manslaughter today for the fatal shooting Jan. 15 of Mrs. Edith Mae Cummings, her business associate.

The jurors deliberated 8 hours. Mrs. Barker, who had waited impatiently, heard their verdict without changing expression. She had been confident of acquittal.

The maximum penalty for manslaughter is 15 years imprisonment. Circuit Judge Ira W. Jayne, who presided at the two weeks' trial, ordered Mrs. Barker remanded to jail pending a study by the probation commission.

Mrs. Cummings was shot to death on the steep slope of a snow-covered ravine near Belleville, Mich. The state, indicting Mrs. Barker on a charge of first degree murder, sought to prove she feared Mrs. Cummings was about to make revelations concerning real estate deals for which both women faced fraud charges in Kentucky.

On the witness stand, Mrs. Barker told the jury Mrs. Cummings was in dire financial difficulties at the time of her death, and that she had threatened suicide. The shooting occurred during a struggle for a gun.

Favor Trojans to Win 4-A Title at New York Stadium

Southern California in Limelight of Inter-collegiate Meet

BY DREW MIDDLETON

New York—(AP)—Confident of "34 points, enough to win," Dean Cromwell and his Southern California U. squad were the chief attractions today as the picked athletes of 31 colleges made ready for the outdoor championships of the intercollegiate A. A. A. at Randall's Island stadium tomorrow and Saturday.

Although Olympic champions and sophomore phenoms mingled in the largest concentration of track talent since the 1936 Olympic tryouts in the same stadium, the talk was all of the Trojans might.

The Trojans have men in 10 of the 15 events that comprise the championships and they may score in all ten. When you consider that seven of them are contenders for first place, it is obvious why the Trojans are favored to win.

Exams Hurt Princeton

Princeton, Ivy league champion and one of the leading eastern contenders, suffered a blow yesterday when examination conflicts whittled its entry list to 11 men.

Biggest losses were Phil Gould, one of the culture circuit's top quarter-milers, and Bill Lynch, who took the hammer throw in the heptagonal games.

The hammer throw is the only field event the east is confident of winning. The west has no entries and Ivy Polytechnic of Rhode Island State is a heavy choice. The Trojans, however, have ten of their entries in other field events: Loring Day, Ken Dills and Irv Howe, pole vaulters; Delos Thurber and Clark Mallory, high jumpers; Chuck Soper and Reed Trusel, javelin throwers; Phil Gaspar and Art Wrotnowski, discus throwers, and Bob Fisher, shot-putter.

NIGHT BASS FISHING

By Harold C. Hollis

PETE and I had been fishing for bass one late summer evening without much success. Finally, thinking it too dark for fishing we started for home. A long peninsula jutting far into the lake intrigued us, and we stopped for a few casts. We were using fly rods with cork body feather minnows.

My lure had barely touched the water when there was a swirl on the surface and the rod tip was bending. An instant later Pete hooked a fish. I lost my bass but Pete landed his, a smallmouth weighing just over four pounds.

Now, I had heard that bass fishing was good at night but after a few unsuccessful attempts had decided that it was just another fish story. This, however, looked interesting. We waded up the shore, fishing carefully. About 50 yards from the tip of the peninsula just opposite two prominent birch trees, Pete picked up another bass. We continued on for a way without another strike and then started back. At the birch trees Pete took another bass and at the tip of the peninsula another. Then we quit fishing.

Although I was handling the boat I did almost as much fishing as Pete, but that one strike at the tip of the peninsula was the only one I had. Our feather minnows were exactly the same size and shape . . . but mine was lighter in color. The subsequent experience with smallmouth at night has convinced me that dark lures are the best. My own favorite, selected after much experimenting, is a brown cork body bass bug.

The tip of the peninsula and a spot opposite the birch trees are still the best places on that lake to fish at night. Indeed, on that particular shore there is only about 50 yards of productive water. This is true also of other lakes. The good spots for night are limited. As a rule smallmouth will be found in places where there is an abrupt drop from shallow to deep water.

Since that time I have spent many hours fishing after dark, for this is one of the most fascinating types of angling, but have learned very little that is new. Later experience has merely verified conclusions drawn that night.

Clear, calm nights when there is no moon are the best times to fish. Bright moonlight, cold weather or any considerable amount of wind are definitely unfavorable factors.

Both smallmouth and largemouth can be taken at night although fishing in a lake that contains both species I have taken many more of the former after dark. Indeed, in this lake we have taken very few smallmouth on artificial lures before dark.

Either casting rod or fly rod can be used, although the fly rod, because of the lightness of its lures, is preferable. The fish are in shallow water and a lure that creates a noisy splash is likely to disturb them. My favorite casting rod lure is the pork chunk, which with its weedless hook can be cast to the beach without danger of getting caught in grass or sticks. This avoids noisy splashes. The fish often lie very near the shore and I have often hooked one the moment the lure slipped into the water.

Wall-eye pike are also night feeders and I have taken many on surface lures after dark. Although when I go out at night I am really fishing for bass there have been several times when I have taken more walleyes than I have bronzebacks.

Allow Us to Present Mr. Ken Keltner, The American League's Rookie Sensation

BY DILLON GRAHAM

THE Cleveland hitters were having a gosh - awful time the other day swishing their bats fruitlessly through the air as Emil Leonard's dippy knuckleball fluttered crazily past.

But Kid Keltner wasn't flustered. He got his "4 for 2" against the Washington twirler.

"Trouble with those guys (meaning Trosky, Averill and the other Indians)," Keltner explained, "is they're trying to lay back and sock one.

"That knuckler breaks right in front of the plate. You gotta step up front in the batters' box and crack it before it starts to flutter."

The kid's pretty smart already. He's so smart and good that he's grabbed Cleveland's third base job.

He's the early - season rookie sensation of the junior circuit.

Furthermore, he is just about the No. 1 reason why the Indians are striking a speedy stride in the pennant race.

Kid Ken Keltner, the 21-year-old Milwaukee boy, is one of the leaders in runs batted in, hitting and home runs.

Third Year as Player

He is six feet tall, weighs 180 pounds, has brown eyes and a brown pompadour and wears a curious expression around his mouth, as though he were pucker-ing up to whistle.

Two years ago he broke in as a fence-buster at Fieldale, Va., in the Bi-State league. Last season he tied for the home-run leadership both seasons, with 33 at Fieldale and 29 at Milwaukee.

He puts on weight as quickly as a fellow sitting around a beer pub. The kid weighed 200 when he reported to Cleveland's spring-training camp and Big Chief Oscar Vitt of the Tribe foot-trotted into an Indian war dance.

"I calmed him. I knew I could shake those pounds as quickly as I put them on," Ken said.

Keltner wouldn't have given a silver dollar for his chances of sticking with the Indians when he went to camp. "But Sammy Hale had his tonsils yanked and the other guys didn't look so hot, so I went to work."

He quit school shortly after the grammar grades.

"I'm Pretty Smart"

"If I wasn't playing baseball I guess I'd be digging ditches," he said, quickly adding: "But I'm not dumb. I'm pretty smart."

He has no desire for further education. Says he doesn't need it in his business. He spent three years in a trade school learning cabinet-making.

He comes from Milwaukee's German colony but professes apathy to sauerkraut. . . . Likes beer . . . smokes half a package of cigarettes a day and an occasional cigar . . . is unmarried, but has a "steady" and some high hopes . . . likes movies but dislikes the theater . . . devours sport pages, but never reads the front page . . . isn't interested in national or foreign news . . . "to hell with that stuff" he says.

The chief difference he finds between the majors and minors is that it costs more to live in the top leagues. "You're a heel if you don't tip well and often. Everywhere you turn, it's money," he says.

He doesn't think the big-league players are much smarter, except the pitchers. "In the minors you face a good pitcher only about once a week; up here you get one every day."

The Indians think they found a gem in Ken.

Terry Is Trying Hard to Find New Second Baseman

BY EDDIE BRIEZY

NEW YORK—(AP)—They fattened up Henry Armstrong for the Barney Ross scrap with sherry and stout and beer . . . Henry got a glass of sherry with an egg in it every morning for breakfast. . . . In the evening he was given a glass of stout and a bottle of beer with his dinner. . . . The Springfield Greys, one of New York's crack semi-pro outfits, blossomed out in safety helmets against the House of David team last night.

Whitehead not only is out for the season, but his baseball career is threatened. . . . Armstrong shadow boxed for 20 minutes in his dressing room before facing Ross. . . . Colonel Ruppert, owner of the Yanks is on the sick list. . . . Referee Arthur Donovan says he never saw a man throw punches over a 15-round period like Armstrong did Tuesday night. . . . Ross began to show the effects of them as early as the third round. . . . Not one of the three ring officials gave the Negro fewer than 10 rounds.

Rudy York, who has been doing the old flopper in left field for the Tigers, was given a day off yesterday to sit in the stands and try to learn the art of covering left.

York has hit three homers with the bases filled this season and his last four round-trippers accounted for 13 runs.

Some of the experts were discussing what will happen when Armstrong tangles with Lou Ambers. . . . One of them popped up: "Ambers can do one of three things," he said, "change his name, leave town or forward his title to Armstrong by the mail man."

Bill Terry is trying desperately for a second sacker. . . . He tried to get Tony Cuccinello from the Bees and now is after Alex Kampouris of the Reds. . . . Burgess today for his fourth win of the year and the Reds walloped Brooklyn's Dodgers, 4 to 1, in the opener of a three-game series.

The Reds belted Tot Pressnell, Vito Tamulis and Van Mungo for 6 hits, one of them Ival Goodman's eleventh homer of the year in the eighth.

Brooklyn's only run came on Ernie Koy's home run in the second.

The smiling gent is Mr. Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics, whose team is going around knocking the blocks off the big shots, especially Yanks and Indians. . . . In their last six starts the A's have made 43 hits count for a total of 50 runs . . . And you can't laugh that off either.

Bob Johnson, Sammy Chapman and Frankie Hayes accounted for eight Philadelphia runs with circuit blows. Johnson smashed his in the first inning off Mel Harder with the bases full. Chapman hit his in the third with one on. Hayes came through in the sixth with one on.

A double by Hal Trosky, a triple by Ken Keltner and an error by Chapman accounted for two Cleveland runs in the second. Earl Averill's homer with two in the fifth accounted for the other three Indian tallies.

Basil Giaman Rides 31 Winning Mounts In Nine-Day Period

San Francisco—(AP)—Skinny little Basil Giaman, the baby-faced farm boy with the nerve of a lion tamer, has ridden back into the horse racing headlines at a clip unequalled in California's modern turf history.

Not many performances of the past of any track will overshadow his feats at Tanforan where on nine consecutive racing days beginning May 20 and ending on the 31st, he rode three or more winners daily for a total of 31. Six were triples, two of the quadruple variety and five on the final day of the sensational streak.

Earlier in the meeting he led six mounts into the winner's circle in a single day, equalling the achievement of his keenest western rival, Johnny Adams, who had ridden half a dozen in one afternoon in the meeting at Bay Meadows this spring.

James won the American riding championship in 1936 with 245 winners.

Valley League Gossip

AFTER several years of absence from the national pastime, Max Novakowski, Menasha, has returned to the game and is calling 'em from behind the plate. He worked in the Valley league several years ago and the layoff apparently hasn't dimmed his eye.

Harvey Hartjes, Little Chute manager, is having more than his troubles these days. He is in a batting slump and can't shake it. Perhaps the managerial duties have something to do with it.

Kaukauna Electric City Brewers have been a surprise to the league and themselves as well. They have counted victories over Little Chute, Neenah and Grand Chute. When play started they didn't expect much from a group of youngsters and a veteran third sacker in Carl Schuler. But some of the boys have crashed through in a hurry, especially "Omaha" Gast whose hitting has been sensational.

Red O'Brien of the Green Bay Thomas Druggs has the makings of a great hurler if he can overcome wildness. He blows when least expected and against Appleton twirled great ball until the eleventh when two triples routed him.

Notke of the Grand Chute Merchants has turned in 31 strikeouts in the three games he's tossed. With that kind of hurling the Grand Chute should remain among the leaders in the circuit.

Freddie Hammen, a brother of the famous Cocky Hammen, Seymour first sacker, is one of the most promising rookies on the Little Chute squad. He handles line drives around third base with ease and can blast the horsehide with the best of them. At present he's hitting .500.

A crowd of about 500 is reported to have watched the Appleton Becher Taverns and Neenah Merchants last Sunday at Appleton. However, the seating arrangements are practical-ly nothing and the league would be highly pleased if Appleton officials would recognize the efforts of the boys and put up a few bleachers.

Buster Brown of Appleton was a hero Monday when the Taverns beat Menasha Falcons. After taking the mound against Neenah Sunday he went back Monday and allowed two hits in four frames while his mates went on a scoring spree in the eighth and counted seven runs to win by an 18 to 10 score.

Collins, Green Bay third sacker, nipped a Falcon rally Sunday when he went to the hill and zipped three strikes past the batter with the sacks loaded and helped his mates win, 11 to 10. O'Brien started on the mound and fanned 17 Falcons but offset it by issuing 14 passes.

When Oshkosh trounced Kaukauna, Alwin, Oshkosh third sacker, entered the home run list with a four bagger with the bases loaded. Kloiber, Oshkosh hurler, also got a homer.

Several good games are listed for Sunday with Green Bay going to Little Chute, Kaukauna entertaining Menasha, Becher Taverns invading Oshkosh and Neenah at home to Grand Chute.

There will be a Valley league meeting tonight at Kaukauna. All managers are expected to submit player lists. League bills also will be up for approval.

Dago Schuler, Little Chute hurler, didn't take any chances in the tenth against Appleton Sunday when Choudori singled to open the frame. He turned on the steam and fanned the next three batters but in the eleventh he bowed to the invaders.

Blues Tumble to Tie With Indians

Louisville Colonels Upset Kansas City in American Association

Louisville, Ky. — (AP)—The old baseball saw that it takes a tail-end to knock off the leader still operates in the American association.

Much to the regret of the Kansas City Blues.

The Louisville Colonels were the tail-enders and the Blues, who held a half game edge over Indianapolis before the game, the victims for a stocky left hander named Lester Willis last night.

The Colonels won, 5 to 3, and the Blues were tumbled into a tie with the Indians, whose game with Milwaukee was postponed because of wet grounds.

By beating Minneapolis, 8 to 5, Toledo closed up to within one game of the third place Millers, but their 16 hits had to be used in conjunction with four pitchers to win.

In the only other game played, St. Paul beat Columbus, 5 to 1.

"Riding to hounds one day I fell far behind the other huntsmen. I sat down on a log to quench my thirst with a bottle of Blatz Old Heidelberg beer. Suddenly along came the poor fox with his tongue hanging out. I was horrified to discover that it was Albert, the pet fox of the gardener's children. The hounds had lost the wild fox and had switched off on poor Albert's trail. I had to save Albert! I offered him what was left of my Blatz Old Heidelberg beer—and he eagerly seized it in his paw and drank it up. With a grateful wink in my direction, Albert was off again, swift as a breeze! To this day those hounds are probably wondering whatever became of that fox."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest, it just sits in the bowels, and you feel sour, your stomach is constipated, you feel sluggish, and the whole system is poisoned and you feel worse.
A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel up and up. Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Nine Indians Carry on Traditions of Tribe

Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—There are just nine Oklahomans left to carry on the traditions of a once strong Indian tribe, the Piankashaws.

The tribal lore started centuries ago with the banding together on mid-western plains of a group of sturdy aborigines.

Last chieftain of the Piankashaws, George Washington Finley, died in 1933. Those left to tell the story of the tribe are his daughter, Mrs. C. C. Barnard of Tulsa, and her children, Oletha, Leota and Charles; his son, Leo Finley; his grandchildren, Carol Jeanne, Dixie Dean, John and Jim Finley, who live in Miami, Okla.

A Tulsa artist, Frank Vonder Lancken, painted the chiefs' portrait a short time before his death, called it "The Last Piankashaw."

The WORLD of STAMPS

BY JAMES B. HATCHER

The giant tortoise still roams untamed in only two places in the world—Ecuador's Galapagos islands in the Pacific and the Aldabra islands in the Indian ocean.

The Aldabras, a dependency of Britain's crown colony of Seychelles, lie 500 miles southwest of the Seychelles and are nearer Kenya.

Anyway, the big tortoise offers a distinctive subject for the new George VI Seychelles stamps, the island's first pictorial set. His mate may be seen on the 10-centavo stamp of Ecuador's Darwin commemorative issue of 1936.

The Seychelles series includes two other interesting designs. One shows the coco-de-mer palm which grows wild only on the Seychelles island of Praslin. The tree is often 120 feet high and its fruit is three times the size of a coconut.

The "big" goes to the "Chinese" Gordon, the adventuresome general, thought Praslin's famous coco-de-mer valley was the original Garden of Eden site, and the coco-de-mer the forbidden fruit.

A fishing procure forms the third design. In the boat are three creoles and two large basket traps, called casiers. Each design appears on five values of the 15-stamp set.

Sandjak of Alexandretta

A new album page can be lettered "Alexandretta," now that this malarial district in northwest Syria has acquired its own stamps. The stamps are issued in Syria (9 regular postage, 6 airmails and 6 dues) overprinted "Sandjak d'Alexandrette" in red or black. Sandjak means district.

Alexandretta used to be part of the Turkish Levant, but after the World war it went with the French mandate to Syria, and became part of the Syrian republic. Turkey would not let the French forget that most of Alexandretta's people are Turkish, and promoted the present self-government set-up.

The two cities in the sandjak are biblical Antioch, old capital of the Roman empire in the Orient, and Alexandretta (Iskanderun in Turkish), which was named for Alexander the Great. Alexandretta has a fine harbor, but is quite unhealthy. It is built on a marshy plain not far from the mountain Musa Dag.

The district's fertile valleys produce cotton, licorice, tobacco and citrus fruits.

For Hitler's Birthday

When the Reich's post office picked a design for Hitler's birthday stamp (it was 49 April 20), it chose a photographic portrait by Heinrich Hoffmann which was engraved by Prof. Richard Klein of Munich. The stamp was issued April 13.

The face value of this dull vermilion "special" is 12 pfennings, with a surtax of 38 pfennings destined for Hitler's cultural fund. The stamp first went on sale only in Germany proper but may be used in Austria.

Harvard Head Refuses To Retain Instructors

Cambridge, Mass.—(4)—A year-old controversy over the release of two economics instructors, Drs. J. Raymond Walsh and Alan R. Sweezy, by Harvard university has ended with President James Bryant Conant rejecting a recommendation of a faculty committee he appointed that they be retained.

The faculty committee of nine, named at the request of 131 instructors, held their release "involved injustice as well as unwisdom" but rejected charges that Harvard had been influenced by their active participation in the labor movement, their social or economic views or criticism of former President A. Lawrence Lowell.

Both Walsh and Sweezy had been active in formation of the Cambridge Teachers' union and a few weeks prior to their dismissal Walsh had told a Massachusetts legislative committee he was "assumed to my feet" by Dr. Lowell's opposition to the federal child labor amendment.

The instructors, who have left the university, took no part in the controversy but labor leaders and a League of 45 Rhodes Scholars moved to their defense.

45 CCC Camps in State To be Open Until Sept. 30

Washington—(4)—Forty-five CCC camps will be operated in Wisconsin until Sept. 30, Robert Fechner, director of the corps, announced today.

Previously eight camps in Wisconsin had been slated for abandonment, but with congressional approval of a $50,000,000 increase for the CCC during the 1939 fiscal year, the cancellation order was held in abeyance and the full quota of camps ordered continued.

Of the Wisconsin camps, 13 will be engaged in national forest improvements; 12 will work on state land; 13 will carry on soil erosion projects and 7 will improve and protect state parks.

U. S. Labor Board Opens Hearing at Iron River

Iron River, Mich.—(4)—The national labor relations board opens a hearing here today on unfair labor practice charges brought by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers (CIO) against the M. A. Hanna company, largest mining operators in the county.

The complaint alleges the company by intimidation has prevented employees from joining a union of their own choice, and charges that the company has contributed to the mine workers union, an independent organization for Hanna employees.

The hearing is expected to continue for several days.

LaValle Girl Winner in Statewide Essay Contest

Good Old Band Concerts Will Open Tuesday Night

The good old band concerts at which Ma and Pa sit around on benches, fight off mosquitoes, tap their feet as the trombones go to town, and try to keep the kids quiet will start next Tuesday night at Pierce park.

Orville J. Thompson will lead his 120th Field Artillery band into its first number at 8 o'clock. And Appleton music lovers who have had their fill of symphony music until another winter comes have been assured by Thompson that there'll be plenty of thumping marches and trombone smears, with all the trimmings, for those who like their band concerts with lots of "umph."

Use of heavy symphonies and concert overtures will be "sparing," Thompson says, and they'll be "far outbalanced" with light concert numbers, stirring marches, and trombone swing tunes that send people home with goose pimples.

The trombone players, who always turn out to be the heroes of band concerts because Americans like a lot of action, will be prominently featured in new arrangements.

Musicians who are regular members of the band will also be called upon to appear individually before the concert crowds. Duets, trios, quartets, sextets, and Orville Melitz's saxophone sextet will provide sparkling arrangements of popular dance tunes.

Nine gifts aggregating $20 will be given among the persons attending Tuesday night's concert.

I REFUSE TO RUIN MY HANDS WASHING DISHES

LET ME CLEAN UP THOSE GREASY THINGS. IT'S MY SPECIALTY. I'LL KEEP YOUR HANDS NICE AND SMOOTH

WOMEN describe the New improved Rinso as a dishwashing partner that does most of the hard work. For with the New Rinso all you have to do is to soak the dishes for several minutes in the rich, lively suds... then swish and rinse—and let the dishes drain dry, if you wish. This new way to wash dishes is easy as pie. Best of all, dishes, pots and pans come sparkling clean without a trace of greasy film on them. The New Rinso is economical to use; that's because a little goes so far. And you'll find the New Rinso as kind as ever to hands. It keeps them smooth, lovely and white. Never makes hands red or rough. Try it—you be the judge! For whiter, brighter washes Rinso, of course, is famous for the way it washes clothes. Try it on washday—and see for yourself. Cup for cup, the New Rinso gives over 25% more suds than the old. The suds get white clothes at least 5 shades whiter than ordinary suds in tub or machine. They get colors bright and fresh-looking. The New Rinso is recommended by the makers of 33 famous washers. It is America's biggest-selling package soap.

OCTAGON HOUSE BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The Story So Far: Unscrupulous Marina Love, whose husband's post office mural has aroused Quanonnet, is murdered by a left handed blow from her sister's knife. Suspected Pam Frye disappears because an unknown person who smokes Turkish tobacco is trailing her to discover the whereabouts of $50,000 worth of ambergis she found the day of the murder. Agreeable Tim Carr, a boarder at the Frye's Octagon House, is left handed, smokes Turkish tobacco, and hated Marina. Asey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, eavesdrops outside the Woman's Exchange on gabby Nettie Hobbs who swears Pam is the murderer. Peggy Boone, an artist, tells Nettie she is a liar. Then Roddy Strutt, whose plane smashed in the square the night before, pays Nettie to keep his name out of her story.

Chapter 16
Roddy's Check
Asey was brought to earth by Nettie's voice at his elbow. "What do you think you're doing?"

"What's that?" Asey hastily put on the gold rimmed glasses before turning around. "What's that?" "What do you think you're doing?" Nettie raised her voice, and Asey promptly took his cue. "What say?"

"What are you doing?" Nettie bellowed.

"Paintin'," Asey said, gently. "Who told you to paint here?"

What do you mean, trespassing and defacing my property-- get away, before I call the constable!"

"What say?" Asey asked. "What's that?" I'm a mite hard of hearin', marm."

He made her repeat it five times and then he assumed an injured expression.

"You mean, this ain't the Red Men's Hall?"

"It's the Woman's Exchange," Nettie yelled. "The Woman's Exchange! Woman's Exchange!"

"They do?" Asey said. "I want to know, now!"

"You deaf old fool, this isn't the Red Men's Hall, this is--"

"Then if it ain't the Red Men's Hall," Asey peered down at her, "then you owe me fifty cents for time, an' a quarter for paint, I'll make it sixty cents cash money."

Finally, from sheer exhaustion, she gave him the sixty cents. Asey pocketed it gravely, and removed himself and his cans.

It was no task to mingle with the crowd until Nettie emerged from the alley, and he could hardly have helped joining in with the young mob that followed her up the street to the bank.

Parking his paint cans on the back doorstep, Asey strolled in the banks rear door and knocked on the glass of the president's little cubby hole. He had always wondered why he had allowed himself to be made an honorary director of the bank's main branch, and now, he thought as he waited, he knew.

Seriously Involved
The amount of Roddy Strutt's check, which he had in his hands almost as soon as Nettie deposited it, startled him.

Five thousand dollars, he thought as he picked up his paint cans outside, meant that Roddy wasn't just trying to keep his name out of this affair. It meant that Roddy was seriously involved.

Roddy had no reputation for openhandedness. It had taken a court battle to make him pay for smashing up Bill Porter's car in that accident the year before. And yet he'd given Nettie a check for $5,000, just like that!

But, he remembered suddenly, how could Roddy Strutt possibly be involved in this mess? Presumably he was flying around in his new airplane and wrecking it.

Pam knew nothing about the crash, and she would have been told by Nettie if it had occurred before Nettie left Octagon House at ten-thirty. Jennie Mayo said that Roddy had wrecked the plane on his way home from tagging his friend's plane. Marina Lorne had dashed away from the garage, leaving the ambergis, in order to see some artist, some friend of Roddy's, who was shortly leaving.

Land Frontiers, Navy are Vital In Nation's Life

Writings of Turner, Mahan Still Significant, Rosebush Says

The theories of two great historians, Frederick J. Turner and Captain Alfred T. Mahan—the first believing that free land and frontiers are most significant in national development and the second that naval strength is paramount—are still applicable in present day America, Judson Rosebush said in a talk before the Appleton Kiwanis club yesterday noon in the Conway hotel.

The ideas of Mahan, whose books on naval technique and history attracted world wide attention, are "now fully accepted in America," Rosebush said, pointing to the vast re-armament bill which congress has passed.

President Roosevelt has "turned against" Turner's belief in an aggressive, highly individualistic frontier people by leading the government into assuming the "unbearable burden" of relief, Rosebush said. And the need for new frontiers—the kind which Turner held up as the lifeblood of a country—is greater today than ever.

Both men were inclined to over-emphasize their theories, Rosebush said, but their writings influenced the course of events in America "probably more than those of any other historians."

Turner Born In State

Turner, born in Wisconsin, taught at University of Wisconsin and Harvard. Mahan was a graduate of Annapolis, ultimately received the title of admiral, and was on the naval board of strategy during the Spanish-American war, Rosebush said.

Relating Mahan's statement that "it is not what a navy wants to accomplish as what it wants to concede," Rosebush pointed out that this axiom holds true today—particularly at this moment when countries like Germany, Italy, and Japan are becoming ambitious.

"If Germany and Italy were to be victorious in a general European war and, with Japan, became interested in getting footholds in South America, what would we do? If we stood by the Monroe doctrine and opposed such moves, we would have to enlarge our navy. If we conceded them that opportunity, our navy could be smaller."

How To Balance

The problem, Rosebush said, is "how to balance these two theories, the exploitation of new frontiers on the one hand and the building up of naval strength on the other."

American industry grew rapidly each year from 1790 to 1930, he said, and then stopped growing and "actually shrunk."

The retarding of that growth since 1930 has meant a loss of 60 billion dollars, he said. "Assuming that for each man in industry, there is $5,000 in equipment, and dividing $5,000 into 60 billion dollars, you see that it has resulted in throwing 12,000,000 men out of work."

With the falling off of industry's growth has come a change in the attitude of the government. "Cleveland believed that while the people should support the government, the government was not obliged to support the people."

"Roosevelt, on the other hand, stating that one-third of the population is ill fed and ill housed, feels that the government should support them."

Prices of Wheat Gain in Rallies On Chicago Mart

North American Export Business Helps Late Advance

Chicago —(P)— Late rallies lifted Chicago wheat prices fractionally today after prospects of a 1938 domestic harvest eclipsing any heretofore known had forced the market 1 cent down.

Helping the late advance was North American export business totaling upwards of 400,000 bushels. United States hard winter wheat was sold to England, Belgium and Holland.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1-1/2 above yesterday's finish, July 69-1/2, Sept. 70-1/2, corn 1-1/2 advanced, July 57-1/2, Sept. 57-5/8, and oats 1 cent to 1-1/2 up.

BY VICTOR EUBANK

New York —(P)— Late buying in utilities awakened a sleeping stock market today and selected issues, after succumbing to earlier profit selling, got back on the rallying trail for net gains of fractions to a point or so. There was an assortment of losers, however, at the close.

The list extended Wednesday's upswing at the opening, but soon met sufficient offerings to take the steam out of leaders. Initial advances were cut down or cancelled in many cases as the session progressed. Volume dwindled almost to zero on the retreat. It picked up in the final hour when quotations were stiffening. Transfers were around 500,000 shares.

Power and light company stocks drew support at the last.

Steels were good in the morning, but eventually gave way and ended somewhat irregular.

Favored shares included Consolidated Edison, North American, Electric Power and Light, Public of N. J., National Power and Light, Pacific Gas, Western Union, Columbia Gas, Republic Steel, U. S. Rubber, Texas Corp., Anaconda, Cerro de Pasco, Allied Chemical, National Biscuit, N. Y. Central Pennsylvania, Eastman Kodak and Philip Morris.

Backward were American Telephone, Kennecott, American Can, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft and General Motors.

Earnings

New York —(P)— A. P. Smith Corp. reported net loss for the year ended April 30 of $160,531 after charges. This included operations of wholly-owned subsidiary, Smith Meter company, from date of acquisition Nov. 1, 1937, but not controlled or affiliated companies. Comparable figures for the previous fiscal period were not available. Company manufactures special steel shapes and tanks at plants in Wisconsin.

Hog Production Climbs As Quotations Advance

Chicago —(P)— More than half a million dollars added to hog producers' weekly income by the recent unexpected price upturn, market experts estimated today, has spurred the rebuilding of the nation's livestock population.

A price rise since mid-May has put 50 to 60 cents per hundred-weight on the value of hogs marketed here and at other major livestock slaughtering centers. This upturn, which occurred despite an increase in market receipts, advanced the value of hogs on farms throughout the country approximately $50,000,000, traders estimated.

Rebuilding of the national hog population, which fell to a record low in 1935 and at the first of this year was still well below normal size, began with harvest of last year's big corn crop but this spring brought the first sharp increase in hog production, market statistics indicated.

S. A. McMurray, a provisions authority, estimated the spring pig crop was 10 per cent larger than a year ago.

Clarion Dedicated To First Settlers Of This Territory

Distribute Over 1,300 Copies of Yearbook To Pupils Today

Dedicated to the first settlers of the Northwest territory, the Clarion, Appleton High school yearbook, this noon was distributed to more than 1,300 students following presentation of awards.

Several new features are contained in this year's annual which is bound in brown artificial leather with the name and year in gold letters. The book comes autographed so that seniors won't have to spend a lot of time bothering everyone. Autographs of all the seniors are printed on pages inside the covers.

Many pictures of all school activities tell the story of the 1937-38 term without the usual endless columns of printed matter.

Pupils who helped make the book a success this year include: Cordell Zuelke, editor-in-chief; Albert Wickesberg, Jr., Mary Ellen Pomeroy, assistant editors; Lois Egan, Dorothy Frank, Arleen Hamilton, Anne Holtz and Ellen Marty, senior editors; Peggy Boyer, Audrey Lemmer and Mary Ellen Pomeroy, junior editors; Astyre Hammer, Betty Meidam, Robert Sager and Robert Welch, sophomore editors.

Aviation to Help U.S. be Friend in Need

If Old World Attacks 'Good Neighbors'

The United States isn't overlooking the chance that the western hemisphere might be invaded. Recent maneuvers in Texas, in the Pacific ocean and along the eastern seaboard showed that. And the Monroe Doctrine makes both America and the continent of Uncle Sam. The problem of defending this hemisphere has been investigated by Alexander R. George. He tells about it in three articles. The first follows.

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

Washington—(AP)—Two hundred and forty million Americans, standing shoulder to shoulder against aggression by any nation of the Old World—

That is the new version of the Monroe Doctrine. For it, the United States is trying to enlist the cooperation of all the American democracies. Because of it, the United States must consider the possibility in these troubled times of aggression against any part of the western hemisphere.

Under the old version of the doctrine, Uncle Sam alone assumed the responsibility of protection. But after the Spanish-American war many Latin-Americans began to view the doctrine and the designs of the United States with suspicion.

Then in 1927, Dwight Morrow as ambassador to Mexico started sowing the seeds of a good neighbor policy by emphasizing that the United States intended to keep its hands off the affairs of the American states. To South America went President-elect Hoover, spreading the more good will. To South America went President Roosevelt, spreading more good will.

Last winter, spreading the idea that the United States can take care of its friends, as well as the idea of good will, six of the army's great flying fortresses flew in 34 hours to Buenos Aires, capital of Argentina, which is twice as far away as the European battlefields of 1917-18.

Consultation Pact

Now President Roosevelt is considering another trip to South America and there has been talk of government broadcasts to offset Europe's propaganda programs.

The Inter-American peace pact drawn up at Buenos Aires in 1936 provides for consultation among the 21 American Republics in the event of military aggression. Of those nations, the United States is the only first class military power.

Brazil has two battlefleets, two cruisers, eight destroyers and seven submarines to protect her fabulous wealth. Wealthy Argentina has two battlefleets, two cruisers, four coast defense vessels, nine destroyers and six submarines. Chile has a somewhat smaller navy.

U. S. Has Stake

Obviously it would be easier for the United States to defend its own shores alone than to try to protect all the Americas, Brazil, for example, closer to Europe than it is to the United States.

Most interpretations of the Monroe Doctrine, however, have assumed that the United States would act against European or Asiatic military aggression in South America. Whether this country would actually go to war would be decided by Congress.

The decision probably would depend upon these points: the circumstances under which the South American country became involved in war; the danger of an invasion to the peace and safety of the United States; the attitude of the people of the United States.

The size of any military force the United States might send to the war zone would depend upon the need for defending its own shores. The business of the U. S. fleet would be to seek out and destroy enemy fleets rather than to defend the shores of a Southern American country.

U. S. fighting planes could fly south over established airlines and use established bases in South America. Enemy planes would have to depend primarily upon aircraft carriers—more vulnerable than land bases.

In a protracted war, a combination of the larger South American countries could muster a large manpower. Most of the countries have valuable third-line defense assets in large food supplies and essential minerals.
